UNKNOWN DIED WITH SEAVER

Unidentified Woman Swept to Death With Greater Boston Man in Florida

Advices received today from Miami, Fla., lend an element of mystery to the drowning of Joshua Seaver of Newton Highlands and a woman companion whose identity was not established.

It was learned that Seaver's sister, Mrs. Caroline Bean, of Boston, was not a victim as at first reported, but from that she watched the tragedy from the beach, helpless to aid.

Mrs. Bean and a friend, Mrs. R. F. McMillan of New York, another witness of the double drowning, were were unable to furnish any information.

Mr. Seaver, who lived at No. 112 Hyde street, Newton Highlands, and who had a factory at No. 90 Freeport street, Dorchester, had been stopping at the Green Tree Inn at Miami since February 15. Each morning it was said to be his custom to bathe at a spot far up on the beach, together with the woman who met death with him. The place was a mile from the United States coast guard station and four miles from the city.

Yesterday they went bathing as usual, despite a heavy sea kicked up by a strong southeast wind. The tide by a strong sea and the undertow stronger than usual.

While the couple were in the water Mrs. Bean and Mrs. McMillan sat in an automobile and watched them. Seaver and his bathing companion, although both good swimmers, were caught by the undertow, and despite their struggles were swept under the surface.

The two women spectators, being unable to drive the automobile, hurried to the coast guard station and gave the alarm. The weather proved to be too rough to launch a lifeboat, although repeated efforts were made.

A life guard then swam out with a rope attached to his body, in an attempt to recover the bodies of the victims, which were seen floating in the water, but was dragged back exhausted.

Letters from Mr. Seaver, who was about fifty, reached his wife and six 9-year-old son yesterday.

Mr. Seaver was well known in Newton Highlands because of his peculiar relationship to Mrs. Caroline Bean, the woman who was first reported to have been drowned with him.

In addition to being his sister, Mrs. Bean is also his step-mother-in-law, as she is the second wife of Seaver's wife's father.

BLUE HILL TROLLEY LINE QUITS FIGHT

The coal famine and the weather conditions have proved too much for the Blue Hill Street Railway Company, and that company has given up the fight. The road is for sale.

The last car was run over the line on February 5, and it is still in the snow at Ponkapoag, the snowplow that went to its aid being stuck.

There are six cars on the line and some nineteen miles of rail. Only one employe remains on the company's force, and it carried a $1,200 weekly payroll. This lone survivor acts as watchman for the property now.

The line is the only route to the Great Blue Hill, from Mattapan square, and also serves Canton and Stoughton, with connections for Sharon.

Homes of Envoys Are 'Wet' Territory

By International News Service.

Washington, March 11.—Diplomats will be allowed to bring in all the liquors they need here. Their residences are held to be strictly "foreign territory," and not within the purview of the "dry" law.

This decision of the State Department, it became known today, relieves a delicate situation. Suggestions from "highest" councils brought speedy decision on the issue, which clears the way for diplomats sorely perplexed to know how their diminishing "wet stocks" are to be replenished.

BAR HARVARD'S STAR MATMEN

Captain MacDonell and Fiske Brown Declared Ineligible on Eve of Yale Game

Harvard's undefeated wrestling team ran into a snag on the eve of its most important match when the athletic authorities declared Captain James MacDonell and Fiske Brown ineligible to represent the Crimson in its meet with Yale on Saturday. In addition they relieved D. Watkins of his post as manager of the grapplers.

The removal of Watkins and MacDonell comes as the result of the recent handling of a scheduled wrestling match between Harvard and Tech, which was cancelled by the Harvard captain, manager and coach but two hours before it was to be staged. Brown's ineligibility was due to scholastic difficulties.

Captain MacDonell and Brown were two of the most consistent performers on the team. Brown, who was a member of the recent football team, was the heavyweight of the wrestling squad and usually won his events with real falls. MacDonell performed in the 145-pound class with equal success and a victory over Yale seemed sure.

COAL BOARD REPORT TO WILSON

Commission Recommends 25 Per Cent. Advance, but Kills Six-Hour Day

By International News Service.

Washington, March 11.—President Wilson is now studying the final report of the coal commission which he appointed to adjust wage demands of the coal miners, it was announced at the White House today.

It is expected that a summary of the report will be made public within a day or so. It was learned that the report recommends:

A 25 per cent. wage increase, at retroactive.

No reduction in working hours.

Employers to use the check-off system for the collection of union dues.

Many of the minor demands of the workers were granted.

Increased prices in coal to the public are approved by the commission. Increase in selling prices, however, should not be more than enough to absorb the difference between a 25 per cent. wage advance and the 14 per cent. increase allowed by Garfield.

The report covers several thousand words, and is framed in firm language.

Her Husband Defends $500,000 Suit

MRS. HUGO CUNLIFFE-OWEN.

New York, March 11.—A mysterious suit for $500,000 which Marvelle Cooper Brice has brought against Sir Hugo Cunliffe-Owen remains unexplained. Mr. Brice could not be found and his lawyer, Harford T. Marshall, refused to answer questions. Mr. Brice is said to be the former husband of the present Lady Cunliffe-Owen.

When Sir Hugo Cunliffe-Owen married Miss Helen Elizabeth Oliver on December 26, 1918, she had been divorced and had been permitted to resume her maiden name. She was twenty-two then and had come from Washington, Pa. She had been known on the stage as Marie Oliver. Cunliffe-Owen, the British tobacco king, has made forty-six trips from his home in New York and the City Directory has carried his name for years. His attentions to the present Lady Cunliffe-Owen, while she was still Mrs. Brice, were remembered at the time of his wedding. He gave his bride $1,000,000 as a wedding gift.

How Jersey City Fights Rent Profiteers

Jersey City, N. J., March 10.—"The Mayor of Boston or of any other municipality in Massachusetts can end rent profiteering if he wants to and follows our example," declared James F. Gannon, Jr., commissioner of revenue and finance, founder of the so-called "Gannon" plan, soon to be tried out in New York.

As commissioner, Gannon handled over 5,000 complaints of rent profiteering in February so skilfully that today Jersey City is declared to be free from any immediate danger of profiteering along this line. He may be looked upon as an authority.

He was asked if his plan would be applicable to Boston and the other cities and towns of Massachusetts now in the throes of rent profiteering in the clutches of the real estate manipulators.

"The plan is applicable anywhere," he replied. "It was born of sheer necessity. Jersey City was faced with two alternatives — either to down the profiteers peaceably or have the downtrodden tenants rise and down the landlords by force and violence.

"Nor is this condition even now

MAYOR APPROVES PLANS FOR PIERHEADS

The hearing to consider the relocation of the pierheads and bulkheads bordering the Mystic and Chelsea Rivers, was begun today under the auspices of the Board of Army Engineers. Frank W. Hodgdon, engineer for the Public Utilities Department, favored a change in the army engineers' plan, in view of the large amount of manufacturing on the river fronts. He asked that the bulkhead be placed 300 feet inside the pierhead line. Mayor Peters appeared also, urging

NEW SHIP LINES FOR BOSTON

Service to Antwerp and to Hamburg to Be Opened at Once

Two important additions to Boston's overseas trade were announced today. The Cunard Steamship Company gave notice of its intention to maintain a regular Boston and Antwerp service in the fautrs, with the first sailing next Saturday. The British steamship Vergilia, now loading at East Boston, will inaugurate the service.

The International Mercantile Marine Company announced that a regular service between Boston and Hamburg would be opened beginning with the sailing of the steamship Bellerose next Monday.

The Red Star line and I. M. M. Company service has had a monopoly of the Antwerp trade from this port for several years. The only service in Hamburg at present is that maintained by C. H. Sprague & Son, the Boston shipping firm.

ESPERANZA COMES TO GRIEF

Steamship With 45 Passengers Grounds Off Progreso, Mexico, Wireless Reports

New York, March 11.—The Esperanza Expressway, with forty-five passengers, is aground on Madagaskar reef, off Progreso, Mex., according to a radiogram picked up today by the naval communications office.

The Esperandza was enroute for New York from Vera Cruz by way of Havana.

At the local offices of the Ward line it was said that few details had been received, but that no alarm was felt for the safety of the passengers and crew, as there are usually a number of ships near the spot where the liner grounded.

Wireless information of the Ward line officials stated that the Esperanza's hull had been punctured and that the engine rooms were full of water and the engines disabled.

The Esperanza commanded by Captain J. H. Curtis left Tampico, Mex., on March 7 and evidently was on her way to Havana from Vera Cruz when she met with the accident.

Steamship Disabled, Her Crew Starving

Wireless disabled. Also out of course. We are starving."

The foregoing appeal for aid was received at the Charleston Navy Yard wireless station early today from the steamship Tyee, operated by the Gulf & Southern Steamship Company, a subsidiary of the Clyde & Mallory Line.

The ship gives her position as latitude 32.30 North, longitude 72.44 West, which places her east of the Five Fathom lightship, off New York.

The steamship Northern Pacific and the coast guard Seneca are speeding to her aid.

The Tyee is a wooden vessel of 1528 tons and when last reported sailed from Philadelphia for Fayal, Azores, November 12.

PLAN 9-HOUR TRIP ACROSS CONTINENT

New York, March 11.—The flight across the continent may be made in nine hours by an airplane with an engine capable of maintaining its power at an altitude of 30,000 feet, Colonel V. E. Clark told members of the Society of Automotive Engineers at the National Aircraft Exhibition here. At that elevation, he said, a speed of more than 300 miles an hour can be attained with the aid of the steady high winds.

U. S. HAS NO INVITATION TO OCCUPY TURKEY

Washington, March 11.—No invitation has been received for the United States to join the Allies in occupation of Turkish territory as reported in the London Daily Chronicle, the State Department announced today. The United States received no communications as to the proposed Turkish settlement, it was stated.

HOUSTON OPPOSES BONUS

Bond Issue to Reward Soldiers Would Cause Disaster, Says Secretary of Treasury

By International News Service.

Washington, March 11.—Flotation of a government bond issue to raise funds to pay a bonus to soldiers was characterized as "dangerous for the safety of our financial structure," by Secretary of the Treasury Houston today before the House Ways and Means Committee considering soldier bonuses legislation.

Houston further advised against increased taxes to raise the money. "Increased taxes would be the less dangerous plan," Houston said, however.

"The committee wishes to know of any plan you might have to raise from $1,300,000,000 to $2,500,000,000 for the soldiers," Representative Kitchin of North Carolina explained.

"I believe the committee knows the condition of finances. The proposal to spend a sum from a billion to two billion dollars would be a serious one at this time," Houston said.

"An effort to sell bonds at this time would present a very grave possibility. The nation's finances are now in a critical condition.

MIGHT CAUSE DISASTER.

"With prudence in handling our finances this nation can proceed in an orderly fashion. I think a proposal to float two billions of dollars

To Take Mexico Next Fall, Says Starr

By International News Service.

Chicago, March 11.—The United States will undertake the conquest of Mexico soon after the next Presidential election in accordance with plans perfected at the Paris peace conference Professor Frederick Starr, noted anthropologist and authority on Mexican affairs, declared today in an address at the University of Chicago.

"A war with Mexico was planned at the Paris peace conference, I am positive," said Professor Starr. "There is a great movement afoot, recognized at Paris, whereby the United States is to invade Mexico and absorb that country. I believe that hostilities will begin as soon as the new President is elected.

"There are only three bandit groups in Mexico, and only one of these is doing any great harm—that of the petroleum interests."

ROB NEW HAVEN OF $2,000,000

Booty Stolen During March Worth $20,000, Declares Federal Prosecutor

Providence, R. I., March 11.—A system of thieving from the New Haven road, responsible for theft claims in 1919 of $2,000,000, and reaching $20,000 in the last month, was exposed in the Federal Court by United States Attorney Harvey A. Aker here today.

The attorney was arguing for heavy bail for six men captured in a freight car in the Branford yards near Westerly.

Attorney Baker said that the six men under arrest were veteran gunmen, but were simply tools in the working of the system. A man named "Joe," a leader in New York's underworld, is the moving spirit of the gang, according to the attorney. He will be arrested within a short time. A dozen Westerly men may be imprisoned.

Commissioner A. E. Matteson held the six men in bail of $5,000 each. Attorney Baker asked for bail at $10,000 each, saying that he knew that if the men were not held in a large sum they would forfeit their bonds.

"The six now under arrest, all of whom have foreign names, employed as counsel John J. Fitzgerald, a widely-known criminal attorney, and John J. Dunn of Westerly.

All pleaded not guilty and were held for hearing March 19.

BRITISH TROOPS RAID IRISH AUTHOR'S HOME

Dublin, March 11.—The home of Erskine Childers, famous author of "The Riddle of the Sands," was raided by government troops. A squad of soldiers worked for hours digging in the author's garden on the assumption that arms or ammunition were hidden there. Nothing was found.

Inspector Quinn, assistant chief of police, has been relieved of his post after holding it only three weeks.

By REV. W. H. CARWARDINE.

Chicago, March 11.—I have been permitted to read the diary of Ruth Vail Randall, who has been accused of having slain Captain Clifford Bleyer and herself. I consider it a great moral lesson. I am glad to present it to the readers of the American, for I believe it tells more of what a young husband or a young wife should know; more that a young man or woman on the threshhold of marriage should know; more that a father or mother should know than any single document I have ever read.

Ruth Vail, in death called a vampire, was one of the most accomplished and charming of the school girls of

FINAL SUFFRAGE VICTORY TO BE WON THIS MONTH, SAY LEADERS

By International News Service.
Washington, March 11.—Suffrage for women will be an actuality by March 23, according to the proclamation of the West Virginia Legislature last night.

"We expect ratification to follow immediately upon the convening of special sessions on March 22 in Washington and Delaware," said Miss Alice Paul, leader of the National Woman's party.

"The full suffrage State of Washington certainly will act promptly. In Delaware we believe our majority is safe, though not overwhelming. The large proportion of Republicans in the Legislature of this State makes the responsibility clear."

There was jubilation about suffrage headquarters here today over the victory in West Virginia, but the enthusiasm did not prevent the laying of plans for the final offensive.

Already there are a large number suffrage workers in the State of Delaware, and today there was a gradual exodus of women to Wilmington and other Delaware towns and cities to launch a great campaign in favor of suffrage. A large campaign fund has been obtained.

"Nothing short of a miracle can stop ratification of suffrage before Easter," Miss Paul said.

Holcomb Won't Call Session on Suffrage

By International News Service.

Hartford, Ct., March 11.—"The question of a special session for suffrage is a dead issue," said Major John Buckley, executive secretary to Governor Marcus H. Holcomb, when interviewed today.

The ratification of the suffrage amendment by West Virginia will have no effect on the situation in Connecticut, so far as Governor Holcomb's attitude is concerned, members of the administration said today.

"Why should you assume that there would be a change now?" Major Buckley asked. "Governor Holcomb has not even had the matter under consideration."

BLOCK ISLAND LACKS MAINLAND BOAT LINE

Newport, R. I., March 11.—Block Island is without a boat to the mainland again. The Juliette is tied up in Providence, and the line is discontinued. Last Summer Frank H. Gettyo of Dedham, Mass., the owner, died. A few weeks ago his brother also died of influenza, the crew has been paid off, and it is announced the lease on the New Shoreham will not be renewed June 1.

SMALLER ARMY PLAN BEATEN

House Votes for Separate Air Service in Reorganization Bill

Washington, March 11.—The House went on record as overwhelmingly opposed to permitting the country to go back into the state of unpreparedness which existed before the world war.

Three efforts by the pacifist group to amend the army reorganization bill so as to put the military establishment virtually on the pre-war footing were snowed under by votes of more than 2 to 1.

The enlisted strength of 299,650, as recommended by the military affairs committee, was approved. This figure is closely in line with the recommendation of General Pershing.

The House then proceeded to adopt the first section of the bill, which provides for an air service as a separate branch of the army, and designated it, along with the engineer and signal corps, as combatant arms with the infantry, cavalry, field artillery and coast artillery.

SEIZED LIQUOR WILL BE RETURNED TO RAILROAD

Bangor, Me., March 11.—A shipment of liquor, composed of ninety-one cases of Scotch whiskey, consigned to a government warehouse here, which was seized by a Penobscot county sheriff in a Maine Central railroad freight shed in October, 1918, has been ordered returned to the railroad in a receipt issued from the Maine Supreme Court.

U. S. MARINES TO WEAR EMBLEMS ON COLLAR

Washington, March 11.—The emblem of the Marine Corps will hereafter be worn on the collar of enlisted men of that organization. Heretofore the sea-soldiers have worn the globe, anchor and eagle device only on their headgear. The collar emblem will be bronze for the khaki and forest field uniforms and brass for the blue uniforms.

PROTESTS SALE OF LAKE SHIPS

Matthew Hale Denounces Disposal of Vessels to French and Belgian Interests

Washington, March 11.—A protest against the sale of small ships of the "lake" type was received by the Senate Committee on Commerce today in the form of a letter from Matthew Hale, representing producers and shippers covering twenty-two States.

Hale charged the government with having disposed of ten ships to the Lloyd-Royal Belge on February 28, and later three more to the same company, while on March 9 four were disposed of to the Societe Maratime Francaise, making a total of seventeen ships to foreign countries in the last two weeks. The letter asked that no further steel carrying ships be disposed of until Congress shall have had time definitely to determine its policy.

It was pointed out that the type of silver disposed of, all under 6,000 tons, were particularly useful to the United States at this time in developing trade between South Atlantic and Gulf ports and the West Indies and Central American countries; that while too small for transatlantic trade they were ideal for coastwise and inland sea service which is the use the French and Belgian companies will put them to.

The question, it was learned today, will be further discussed at the foreign trade conference beginning at Greensboro, N. C., at which Governor Thomas W. Bickett of North Carolina, Governor Hugh M. Dorsey of Georgia, Governor Robert A. Cooper of South Carolina, Senator F. M. Simmons of North Carolina, and others will be present.

Believes the War Made Women's Masters

Chicago, March 11.—The male of the human species has degenerated as a result of the ascendancy gained by women in national affairs, according to Dr. William J. Hickson, head of the Chicago psychopathic laboratory and internationally famous as a psychopathologist.

The war and the reform wave which is sweeping the country, in the opinion of Dr. Hickson, have made women the masters of men.

"The war brought women to the front," explained Dr. Hickson. "It emancipated them in a way. They stepped into responsible positions. They were practically the backbone of the war hysteria. It was the woman who yelled loudest for killing. They served on committees in uniform. They took up smoking and fell into masculine ways psychologically.

"The result today is that women have secured the drop on men in this country. The reforms being conducted are being inspired usually by women. These reforms aim at one thing—to put upon man the same restrictions under which woman has been functioning for a century.

MEN LOSE VIRILITY.

"Prohibition is typical of the modern Puritan mania. The church movements are also typical. They, with prohibition, with so-called high standards of morality, result in a deterioration of masculine physical and mental virility, a falling off of creative ability of the birth-rate—the latter already noticeable.

"American pep, which was the result of a masculine dominated country, will soon be a thing of the past. With the collapse of the male ascendancy in this country we can look forward to a nation of degeneration.

"The effeminization of man is already to be observed and studied scientifically in America. This is always a running mate with Puritanism.

"The suppression of sex in America will ultimately have its harvest in a decadence, a phenomenon already beginning. The male today is inferior in most respects to the female. He is aping her in the matter of clothes, wearing tight-fitting, skirted coats.

WOMAN RULES THE HOME.

"He bows to her legislation and vaguely whoops it up for her reforms. He is fast taking second place, and with his fall there is no question that production in the United States, mental and material, will decline. In fact, the present decline in production is as much due to the decline in the male as to other economic conditions.

"In Germany the national vigor was broken down as much by the war as anything else. Women seemingly wanted this war more than men. Whether they instinctively felt in it an opportunity to gain supremacy as a sex is a matter for debate. But they have in America achieved their purpose. The average home today is dominated by a woman. Our ideas of right and wrong are effeminate.

"Our politics is a form of effeminate idealism. An inversion is obviously taking place and there is no way to stop it. The nation has apparently put its head in a noose of Puritanism and the degeneration of individual and national fibre is inevitable."

HOUSTON FIGHTS BONUS PLAN

Fears "Disaster" if Bonds Are Issued to Reward Soldiers

might be disastrous. I do not know if you could float bonds at the present time.

"If bonds were floated at a higher rate of interest it would tend to depress the present issues.

"If we increased taxes it would cause an increase in the cost of living. Wages would be forced upward.

"We are doing all we can to bring about a stable condition of finance.

"We are having difficulty to do that now. The flotation of a bond issue would counteract this and make further progress towards the normal conditions difficult.

PREFERS TAX BOOST.

"I would recommend increased taxes as the least harmful means of raising the money. Taxes are high now and our problem now is to survey taxes and adjust them that they will not be distributed to business.

"I am not prepared to recommend additional taxes on income. Proposals to give soldiers bonds or government paper are more vicious than the popular flotation of a bond issue."

Can we materially reduce taxes today on a basis of contemplated appropriations and obligations?" Representative Garner of Texas asked.

"We cannot, but our tax system should be readjusted," Houston replied.

"At present we are faced with a military and naval expenditure which war has taught us is necessary. For a number of years our national expenses will be between three and four billion dollars."

INCREASE FOR MINERS; PRICE WILL ALSO GO UP

miners on the commission, did not sign the report. He may make a minority report.

The wage increase of 14 per cent, granted by Dr. Garfield is absorbed in the 21 per cent. increase.

Differentials in the general competitive field will be submitted to a special commission to be appointed by the next joint conference of miners and operators, with two years in which to make a report.

Commissioners Robinson and Peale filed individual reports as well as the commission reports.

Commissioner White insisted upon the seven-hour day and a wage increase of 31.61 per cent. He made heated charges during the closing hours of the commission meeting early today, it was learned, and threatened to go before the President and Congress with his protest.

Unless White finally joins in the report there is grave doubt as to whether the report of the commission will be accepted by the United Mine Workers.

The President may accept either the majority or minority report. It is believed he will try to adjust the differences within the commission and secure a unanimous decision.

The contracts of both of the bituminous and anthracite miners expire at the end of the month. Unless the operators grant terms satisfactory to both the 400,000 soft coal miners and the 150,000 anthracite miners will quit their jobs. According to present plans no strike will be called. The men simply will refuse to work under the terms offered them, creating a condition equivalent to a nation-wide strike.

SENATE ELECTS BEATTY SERGEANT-AT-ARMS

James Beatty of Waltham, Civil War veteran, for fifteen years assistant sergeant-at-arms and more than a score of years an employe in that department is today the new sergeant-at-arms of the Legislature.

Beatty, previously chosen by the House, was elected by the Senate after former Senator John E. Beck, who had received the first Senate vote, withdrew from the contest.

LYNN READY TO TAKE OVER TROLLEY LINE

Mayor Creamer of Lynn today appointed the committee which will take over the maintenance and conduct of the Bay State Street railway locally after April 26, the day when the lease "dies." The committee is made up of Messrs J. awson, Arthur W. Pinkham, James F. C. Stevens, Michael J. Carroll and Edwin S. Cotton.

WILL SUPPORT A NEW ORCHESTRA

"Strikers" See Signs of Split in Patronage of Boston Symphony

Signs of a "split" in the patronage of the Boston Symphony Orchestra were evident today, according to certain of the thirty-two seceding members, who declared that they had received letters from wealthy Brookline and Back Bay patrons signifying sympathy with the "strikers" and promising to support a new orchestra founded by them. Former Concert Master Fradkin declared that he had received a number of letters from patrons commending his stand.

Following a meeting this afternoon, Attorney Arthur Berenson, counsel for the union players, said that the latter were desirous of securing a copy of the list of persons to whom Judge Cabot sent letters explaining the situation from the standpoint of the trustees.

"Judge Cabot takes the position that he wants to keep the orchestra intact and maintain its high standard," said Attorney Berenson. "It is evident that he cannot keep it intact. He cannot replace the 'striking' artists unless he secures women or non-union men who are far inferior to the artists that have withdrawn. In the first place, every one of the leading symphony orchestras in the country is organized, and he could not draw upon any of their 50,000 members. The immigration laws prevent him from getting them abroad.

"He takes the position of 'rule or ruin.' It will be impossible for the American Federation of Musicians to permit the wide powers that the trustees want to hold, for the executive committee has certain rules which govern all over the country, and they are elastic enough to give the trustees sufficient power to discriminate in the choice of artists."

Another meeting of the executive committee of the "strikers" was held later in the day. Two concerts scheduled for Sunday evening at the Colonial Theatre has been postponed a week. It will probably be given in that theatre, leaders said, and the name of Emil Mollenhauer has been mentioned as conductor. Many of the players stated today that they had received offers of engagements from other cities, and plans were discussed for organizing a separate orchestra to tour New England.

'BRAINS' OF BIG HOLDUP DIES

C. S. Whittemore, Who Tipped Off Gunmen in Everett Robbery, Ill ong Time

Charles S. Whittemore, convicted of conspiracy in connection with the Everett holdup of December 20, 1919, is dead in a Boston hospital after a long illness. He had been ill ever since he was convicted, and his death is said to have been literally due to a broken heart. He was 61.

Whittemore's conviction in connection with the shooting of Paymaster Frank Brown of the General Electric Company and the robbery of $15,000 was the sensation of a spectacular case.

He was an auditor for the General Electric at Lynn and lived at No. 16 Lincoln street, Malden. It was proved that he used his information to "Tip" a band of gunmen as to Paymaster Brown's movements.

Whittemore was sentenced to six months in jail and was paroled in July, because of ill health.

The nine men associated with him in the holdup were sentenced to jail terms.

POLICE NIP PLOT TO FREE 215 PRISONERS

Detroit, Mich., March 11.—Plans for a wholesale jail delivery of alleged Communists, awaiting deportation in Fort Wayne, are said by the authorities to have been nipped in the bud by the transfer of nine of the suspected "Reds" from the fort to the county jail at Pontiac.

The nine suspects are said to have organized a "Soviet" among the 215 prisoners as the basis of their plans for an insurrection and escape.

LIVESTOCK STARVING TO DEATH IN NEW BEDFORD

New Bedford, March 11.—With horses, cows, pigs and chickens starving to death daily, the scarcity of grain in this city has reached a critical stage, according to hay and grain dealers here, who announce that the present shortage of food for livestock in this vicinity is the worst in over thirty-five years.

WALSH AND GORE TO SPEAK HERE MARCH 17

Senator David I. Walsh announces that he and Senator Thomas P. Gore of Oklahoma will be in Boston March 17 to speak at the 133rd annual dinner of the Charitable Irish Society at the Copley-Plaza. General Edwards, Governor Coolidge and Mayor Peters will be present. John J. Mitchell will be toastmaster.

FIRE IN CELLAR OF DORCHESTER STORE

Damage to the extent of $100 was caused by a fire early today in the one-story store building at No. 118 Westville street, Dorchester. One is occupied by Louis Rosenal, tailor; the other by George Melle, a delicatessen shop. The fire originated in the cellar.

MRS. RANDALL'S DIARY REVEALS BATTLE FOR HUSBAND'S LOVE

SUICIDE WHO KILLED BLEYER HUNGERED FOR KISSES

her ago. She was bereft, through her parents' divorce, of the training a young girl should have. She married a boy of her own age at less than twenty—too young to know what is demanded of the marriage state, too inexperienced to support her.

Extracts from her story provide their own moral:

THE DIARY.

If this be read some reason may be found for what I have done.

RUTH RANDALL.

La vie est vaine,
Un peu d'amour,
Un peu de haine,
Et puis bonjour.

A free translation of this follows:

Life is vain,
A little love,
A little pain,
And then—good-by.

DIARY OF RUTH RANDALL.

"December 1, 1911—Just a month today. I have been living in this dear flat. Norm was out at Hawthorne and I at my easel drawing. Bought four picture frames.

"Every night for a week he has come home dead tired.

"After kissing me dutifully he goes to sleep with my head on his arm. One night there was no room offered; not even a good-night kiss. I turned over and wept myself to sleep. Oh, I wish my husband knew how much I want to be loved! I tell him, but he does not realize that I mean I must be petted every minute he is with me.

"Dec. 2.—This a. m. we had words about money. I wish we could not have a single cross word.

"Friday, Dec. 8.—Forty cents car fare is pretty stiff, but it brings the kid home to me nights for six hours or so anyway, and then he did not go to work tonight.

"Saturday, Dec. 9.—Gave Norm $2 and he got a derby; he looks fine. Awfully happy.

Tuesday, Dec. 12.—Norm home at 3:30. He slept till 5 and got up like a bear. He is breaking my heart by his cross words and indifference. Every harsh word sets a gulf between us. I don't love my boy less, but I cannot love him more, as I should.

TWO MONTHS MARRIED.

"Sunday, Dec. 17.—Two months married. Seems like two years in a way and two hours in all other ways. Norm expects to be kicked out of the Gas Co. by the 1st. They want only college graduates. God love my boy! Oh, but he is so good to me now. Mother got me shoes, corset and feather for Christmas.

"Monday, January 8th.—Downtown looking for work. Norm can't support us.

"Thursday, 17th.—Three months of marriage. We are happier than we were and don't have words over trifles as before. Thank God I am much happier now. It takes time for two young people to know each other.

"Tuesday, 12—My twentieth birthday. Norm and I are awfully happy. I am well now. I can drink hot milk to put some fat on me. Sister Cora gave me her black velvet suit, and sweater. It's me two waists. My boy gave me twenty of the sweetest kisses, on eyes, lips and hair, this morning before he left. Thank you, God. I am so happy just because of Norm. He just gained fifteen pounds. I'm afraid of this awelling pride.

LOOKING FOR WORK.

"June 19th—Haven't written for months. Busy working. Earned $40. Then they let me go, as business was dull. Last week I was out every day looking for work. This week I haven't either. Mamma has been giving us a lot of provisions.

"Norm and I have lots of little spats, but nothing serious any more. I guess we are becoming so used to each other that they seem less important. Anyway we love each other. Have seen Bunny. Met her accidentally. She made a bet that I would not have any children within three years from May 21. There is a dinner to be given by the one who loses.

July 13.—Another month. How unhappy I am. To write my little troubles here is almost as comfortable as telling them to mother. Nearly every day we have words. Last night Norm's father was here. I feel toward his folks as I have ever since we have been married. No ill will or hardness, but just fear of their pride in Norm and their idea that I am a foreigner.

A BABY—SOMETHING TO LOVE.

"A year from now what will I be writing in this book? Shall I be here to write it at all? Oh, God! Oh, God! If you only knew how my heart is breaking, how hungry I am for love!

If I could only harden myself to his cold treatment I should then suffer in silence, but I love my husband, want his admiration; I never think for a moment that he cares for someone else. I would swear that he does not. Why should he, when I love him as God knows? I devote all my time to my dear boy. Darling God, if I could not write down all these things to you I would have no comfort at all.

"A baby, a baby, my baby, what would that mean to a little girl? It means something to love and care for; something to trust and turn to you for its every need.

March 10.—We live in the same house—but apart. The loss of little Girl seems to surprise and anger Norm. I have forgotten how I used to act. It was so natural to me then. I would have to be taught how to love that way again. I have some pretty clothes now, and will think of them. Norm has gone to get a new "job" at the steel mills.

"April 11.—This is just another regular day. Read "Black Tulip" by Dumas and "Hunchback of Notre Dame." Last night it came to me suddenly, I wondered if I should have kept the first child God sent me.

Oh, God, it was a love child such as can hardly come now, because I am so much harder and older. God may punish me yet, though at the time I did for the best. We were starving. Arvella's baby is nine months old and a darling. I wonder if I ever can.

"April 19—Read 'The Masquerader.' Last Saturday night I slept with Cara. Norm was so insulting that I am prepared to stay away again.

"May 5—Last Monday night Norm kissed me. How strange. I have a great desire to sing. I often wonder if a baby would help me. I dread and long for motherhood."

Bleyer's Widow Relents; Permits Home Funeral

Chicago, March 11.—Funeral services for Captain Clifford Bleyer, wealthy Chicago advertising man, slain by Mrs. Ruth Randall, beautiful divorcee, in the dual tragedy which ended their secret romance, will be held at his home, Mrs. Bleyer, his widow, announced today, relenting from her previous decision to have nothing to do with disposition of the body.

Mrs. Randall, who committed suicide after slaying Bleyer, was buried alone today, with only a tiny bouquet of flowers—placed on her casket by a stranger who noticed that none had been sent her.

WAR DECLARED ON HOARDERS

Justice Department to Begin Attack on Men Holding Back Supplies

By International News Service.

Washington, March 11.—Hoarding of food supplies upon a vast scale, as the greatest menace to the present food table, was brought to Attorney-General Palmer's attention today by District Attorney Clyne of Chicago.

"Warehouses are jammed with table necessaries and drastic legal measures must be exerted by the government to run loose these surplus stocks," Mr. Clyne reported.

The Department of Justice, following Clyne's disclosures, will at once begin attack upon the hoarders in Chicago, Kansas City, Omaha, St. Louis and other Middle Western centres.

In Chicago alone Mr. Clyne asserted, butter and cheese stocks show a 300 per cent. increase in amounts stored as compared with previous years.

ELSIE JANIS HOSTESS TO WOUNDED VETERANS

Nearly 300 wounded overseas veterans, from the hospitals of Massachusetts, accompanied by nurses and surgeons, were given a special performance by Elsie Janis at the Tremont Theatre today. The outing for the wounded soldiers was given by the Community Service. Many of the veterans had seen Miss Janis in France. Following the show, the patients of the Norfolk State Hospital, mostly shell-shock victims, were given a luncheon at the Community Service rooms, No. 34 Hoylston street, assisted by the Red Cross. Those at the show included 150 men from the Parker Hill Hospital, 110 from West Roxbury, 150 from the Naval and Marine Hospital, Chelsea, and 180 from the Norfolk State Hospital.

WILL PUNISH ATTEMPTS TO AID "LIFERS" ESCAPE

Providence, March 11.—Persons caught smuggling drugs, dynamite, files or other implements calculated to disrupt the discipline of the State Prison will be assured of a lengthy sojourn at that institution, if the General Assembly approves a resolution, Warden Charles E. Linscott recently frustrated an attempt to smuggle files to a lifer.

Not Divorced Yet? Put N. D. Y. After Name

By International News Service.

London, March 11.—Reformers who are trying to make divorce as easy in Great Britain as it is in the United States are ridiculed in a satirical treatise entitled "The superstition of divorce," by Gilbert K. Chesterton, famous essayist.

Given a riot of divorce, he says, the world may soon come to making its distinctions between those "who are married" and those "who are really married."

"The obvious effect of frivolous divorce will be frivolous marriage," Mr. Chesterton asserts. "The joke about choosing the wife to harmonize with the furniture might quite logically return now.

"As regards marriage after divorce, it in no more alters the moral quality of conjugal infidelity than a mere kiss on the Bible alters the moral quality of perjury."

Mr. Chesterton sees the time coming when a man should designate his domestic status and offers some suggestions. One is to sign the letters "L. W." after his name signifying "lives with wife."

Another is to attach the insignia "N. D. Y." meaning "not divorced yet."

"It is wholly possible that the time will arrive when upon entering a strange city, a traveler will see a stately column erected to the memory of a 'he who never ran away with a soldier' or the image of a historical character who had not 'boiled with the children's governess,'" Chesterton said.

DISPUTE RIGHT TO SPIKER BABY

Wife of Infant's Father Persists in Attempt to Adopt Infant

Baltimore, Md., March 11.—Mrs. Cora Spiker's persistent determination to adopt the six months old child of her husband and Mrs. Emily Knowles Spiker, her newly acquired sister-in-law threatens a breach in the happiness of the four Spikers. The little English bride of a month, who was brought to this country to marry the brother of the man who fathered her child, wants to keep her baby.

The families are living across the street from each other. The baby still is with his mother, but the wife of Percy Spiker after astonishing the world by her breadth of vision in forgiving her husband's dereliction and arranging the marriage between the English girl and her husband's brother now plans to go into court in a few days and ask the right to adopt the baby.

"Emily will keep him for the ninety days she was out under bond by immigration authorities," Mrs. Cora said. "That will bring us to the middle of April. I think Perley and I shall adopt him then legally."

BENSON AGREED WITH SIMS

Deplored Lack of Co-operation by American Navy in 1917, Says Admiral

By International News Service.

Washington, March 11.—Admiral Benson, chief of naval operations during the war, expressed his surprise and disappointment that no definite plan of operation of the combined forces of the allied naval powers had been taken up and decided long ere now" in a cable to Admiral Sims at London, late in September, 1917. Admiral Sims today told a Senate committee investigating his charges against the Navy Department.

The cable was in response to recommendations by Sims that a battleship force be sent to re-enforce the British grand fleet. Admiral Benson pointed out to Sims the unwillingness of the Navy Department to split our naval defence for such a purpose because "our strategic situation requires keeping the battleship force concentrated." Benson urged on Sims the necessity of arranging "some definite plan of operation at the earliest possible date, and if neither can be done this Fall and Winter, as soon as the Spring of 1918 opens."

Later, Sims stated, a battleship force was sent, and he paid high tribute to its work with the British.

To prove his contentions "that the allies barely escaped a peace without victory," Admiral Sims today asked the committee to call Herbert Hoover, former food administrator.

"Of the many men who could speak with intimate knowledge of the situation in Europe in 1917 there is one at present in Washington who gave me when I arrived in London my first realization of the possible defeat of the allies in a short time," Admiral Sims said.

The chairman of the committee, Senator Hale, Republican, of Maine, intimated that Sims' request would be acted on in the near future.

LUKE E. JENKINS, CIVIL WAR VETERAN, IS DEAD

TO HEAR SHIPPEY IN GIRL'S CASE

Wife of Poet Also Will Be Asked to Testify Before Deporting Mile, Babin

By International News Service.

St. Louis, March 11.—Deportation proceedings in the case of Madeline Babin, the Parisian girl figuring in the war love triangle, of which Lee Shippey, Missouri journalist, poet and A. E. F. C. A. war worker, is the principal figure, probably will be delayed until immigration authorities can obtain the testimony of Shippey and his wife.

This became known today when Immigration Inspector Dunn declared that efforts would be made to obtain testimony from Shippey, now at the home of his mother in Los Angeles, and his wife, who has been ill at Kansas City since the romance of her husband and the French girl became known.

The preliminary report of the immigration authorities has been filed with Inspector Dunn, and will be reviewed by him. The entire proceedings probably will remain impasse until Mrs. Shippey has recovered sufficiently to testify and until efforts are made to obtain testimony from Shippey himself.

It also was learned today that a year ago Shippey wrote the Department of Labor at Washington for permission to bring Mlle. Babin and her mother and sister, Georgette, to the United States for the purpose of entering business in Akron, O. He was informed such permission was impossible, as it would be a clear violation of the contract labor law.

KING AND PRINCE GET ROOSEVELT BRONZES

New York, March 11.— Bronze Roosevelt medallions have been presented to the Prince of Wales and the King of Belgium by the Women's Roosevelt Memorial Association through Mrs. Douglas Robinson, sister of the late ex-President. The medallions, commemorating the respective visits of the King and Prince to lay wreaths on Roosevelt's grave, were forwarded to the British embassy and the Belgian legation in Washington for transmission.

GERMANY IS SHAMMING POVERTY, LONDON IS TOLD

London, March 11.—London newspapers, commenting on the economic report of the Supreme Council, take an attitude generally unfavorable to the report. The Post declares that Germany is shamming poverty and that she actually is potentially richer than most of the allied nations. "Germany at present," said the Post, "is carrying on active propaganda to injure the allied countries."

FOCH LAUDS DOUGHBOYS IN GERMAN OCCUPATION

Paris, March 11.—Paris newspapers publish the following statement by Marshal Foch in comment on his visit to the German occupied area:

"Politics is now lost in the clouds. I decline to follow it. All I can say is that my visit to the occupied Rhine provinces has assured me that the morale of our allied troops remain the same excellent spirit that filled them at the time of the armistice.

MAYOR PETERS BACK AFTER BEING SNOWBOUND

Mayor and Mrs. Andrew J. Peters, who have been snowbound for the past few days at Woodstock, Vt., arrived home last night and the Mayor was at his desk this morning. The Mayor and Mrs. Peters made the trip from Woodstock to White River Junction by sleigh, a distance of fifteen miles, and there caught a train to Concord, from where transportation was fairly regular.

Resigns Whenever He Takes a Drink

The resignation of John R. Graham as superintendent of streets of Lynn is in the hands of the Mayor to take effect the first time that Graham takes a drink of an intoxicant.

Since the first of the year the superintendent, elected a year ago after the city had balloted on the question 344 times, has been absent from duty. Reports from his home said he was a victim of pneumonia.

Mayor Creamer investigated. Graham was called before the City Council in secret session and the unique opportunity for redemption was given him.

MORE WAR AWARDS TO N. E. MANUFACTURERS

"Gives the distinguished service cross for gallantry wherever the public opinion of the company will support and award it," said Major-General C. R. Edwards before a large gathering of New England manufacturers who have been given certificates of merit for commendable work done during war times.

This was the second day that General Edwards made these awards in his private office at army headquarters.

At the conclusion of awarding these certificates General Edwards pinned a distinguished service cross upon Lieutenant-Colonel Frank Tompkins of the 13th Cavalry, who was wounded six times in Mexico.

SLAYER OF FOUR DIES IN CHAIR

Brothers of Girl Victim See Will Lockett, Negro, Electrocuted

By International News Service.

Eddyville, Ky., March 11.—Petrie Kimbrough, alias Will Lockett, negro, confessed murderer of three women and one little girl and the probable murderer of another woman, was electrocuted today in the prison here. Two brothers of ten-year-old Geneva Hardman, for whose murder Lockett was sentenced to death, witnessed the execution with seventeen residents of the neighborhood where the murder was committed.

The negro's most brutal and fiendish crime was committed early in February of this year in Fayette County, where he attempted to assault little Geneva Hardeman, a white school girl. Failing, he beat the child to death with a stone and hid her body beneath a shock of corn. He was captured soon afterward and a hasty trial was arranged at Lexington.

While the death sentence was being pronounced a mob attacked the courthouse and was fired upon by State troops. Six deaths resulted and Lexington was placed under Federal martial law for several days.

Mrs. Mary M. Carroll

7 Arcadia Place, Dorchester, Mass.

will be paid $150 for the "best last line" of

LIMERICK No. 29

The completed Limerick reads as follows:

When censors come into their own
They'll tell us what films may be shown,
And dictate our reading,
And limit our feeding,
And "Freedom for All" will have flown.

Mrs. Mary M. Carroll of No. 7 Arcadia place, Dorchester, has been awarded the $150 for the best last line completing Limerick No. 29, published today. "I have entered the Limerick competition every day since it started," said Mrs. Carroll, "and furthermore, I have read the American since its first edition was published." Mrs. Carroll is the wife of George Carroll, a letter carrier attached to the Fields Corner postoffice. She was born in Marlboro and her eight brothers are her earnest rivals in the American's Limerick diversion as is her husband.

4 next "best last lines" of

No. 29 Limerick were written by

Each of whom will be paid $25.00 by the Boston American.

RULES:

1. Friday, January 30th, the Boston American commenced publication of an unfinished Limerick, and $100 will be paid for the "best last line" sent in by the completing Limerick Nos. 1 and 2. Beginning with Limerick No. 3, a total of $250 will be given, first award, $150, and the "best last line" of the next $25.00 each will be given to the next twenty persons sending in the same "best last line," similar awards will be made.

2. No one is barred from participating except employes of the Boston American and their families, who are limited to one "best last line" and in more than one "best last line" to each Limerick.

3. The Limerick printed herewith is for the convenience of the readers and the Editor will do not have to use this particular blank.

4. Each Limerick appearing in the Boston American will have a number, and the "best last line" must be sent by mail or carrier boy, mail, not mailed earlier than noon, Monday, March 15, addressed to "Boston American, Limerick Department, Box 195, Boston 2, Mass. On the outside of each envelope containing the "best last line" must be written or printed "Limerick No. 29." This must be legible. All "best last lines" must be received by the Limerick Department by 12 o'clock noon, four days after publication. Announcement of each award will be made in the Boston American one week after publication of each Limerick.

5. The Boston American reserves the right to make any change in or addition to these rules that may be deemed necessary for fairly and properly conducting the proposition, and the decision of the Boston American Limerick Editor on any question which may arise will be absolutely final, and all contestants agree to be governed by such acceptances of all conditions and regulations now made or to be made.

local to Jersey City. A general strike is threatened in New York because of unwarranted rent increases.

"If Boston and the other cities of New England have not already reached the stage where justly infuriated tenants feels like utilizing force on profiteering landlords, and for this reason take immediate steps against the latter, these cities will soon find themselves worse off than New York is today, for as the real estate sharps are prevented from speculating elsewhere at the expense of the tenants, they will flock to New England.

"The only way to prevent this is to make New England unattractive to the profiteers now there, and to any planning to go there for speculative purposes, by action. This action, if it follows the lines we have followed here, will not only be a cure for prevailing speculation in apartment house properties, but will act as a preventive of further troubles along these lines."

What is the "Gannon plan" so successfully put into practice in Jersey City?

Its originator describes it briefly as a "rent payers' strike." It amounts to a peaceful uprising of the tenants, who, backed by all the forces of the city government, demand right and justice and the end of profiteering.

"Jersey City is governed by commissions," explained Mr. Gannon, "and I am fortunate in having the co-operation of every department. Co-operation is largely the secret of our success. The Board of Health, the Water Department, the Heating Department, the Building Department—even the judges, all of whom have been important factors in squelching the real estate sharps here, are appointed by the commissioners. I have only to press a button and a dozen Board of Health inspectors are at my service."

It was pointed out to Commissioner Gannon that other conditions prevail in New England, where cities are not governed by commissions.

WOULDN'T OPPOSE MAYOR.

"No one, no matter of what political party, would dare to openly hinder or oppose Mayor Peters or any other New England executive should he declare a rent strike similar to ours," replied the commissioner emphatically, "and no man fit to be an executive would allow any underhand political or other opposition to stand in the way of rendering such a public service."

It was explained to Commissioner Gannon that the Commission on the Necessaries of Life is in charge of the situation in Massachusetts, and is holding hearings.

"Hearings are not productive of results," remarked the commissioner impatiently. "There must be action. Talk will no longer suffice. There must be action—action without violence."

The Gannon method, as explained by its successful exponent works this way: Tenants whose rent has been increased, or who have been ordered out, or feel themselves in any fashion victims of profiteering landlords fill out a blank and send it to Commissioner Gannon's office. The landlord is summoned before the commissioner and asked to explain the matter. If he has acted unjustly he is given the alternative of defending his action in court, with the city's Law Department arrayed against him, or of withdrawing his demands, whatever they may be.

Even before the landlord is summoned, however, a corps of city employes, inspectors of the health, building, water and other departments, are dispatched to examine the property in question. If these inspectors find grounds the landlord is hailed into the Criminal Court and tried before the dispute between himself and his tenants is heard by the commissioner.

"We launched our strike in February by taking big advertising space in the papers and by holding a well advertised mass meeting," explained the commissioner.

"MUST BE NO VIOLENCE."

"At that meeting, which every tenant who felt himself a victim of rent profiteering in any form, was requested to attend, the plan was outlined and it was especially impressed on the public that there must be no violence. Both person and property were to be safeguarded. Both sides were to come before us as before a court of equity, with clean hands.

"As a result, we received over 2,000 complaints. With the co-operation of the other commissions these and the property involved were examined and investigated.

"All but sixteen cases were settled at once, usually by the landlord withdrawing his claim.

"Nine of the sixteen contested cases were settled before a jury was drawn in court, the landlords not caring to take the chance of a jury trial, with the city's law department acting as the defender of the public.

"One of the cases was withdrawn because it involved other matters besides profiteering.

"The other six cases were tried. And we won for the tenants in every case.

"We have had about 2,500 complaints for the month of March and expect between 3,000 and 4,000 for April. This is due to the fact that many landlords, not figuring on our strike, sent out notices of increases to take effect in March and April, and that others sent out notices of evictions to take place in February, March and April.

"But, as a matter of fact, gambling on real estate in Jersey City has practically ceased, and the real estate manipulators have migrated elsewhere. Nor are any new ones attempting to get busy here.

"We will keep up the strike as long as necessary. We mean to see the thing through. It's up to Boston and the other New England cities to see that the real estate gamblers we drive out of business here do not start to work elsewhere."

Newark has adopted the Gannon plan and will strike tomorrow night.

(The part played by the tenants themselves in the Jersey City rent payers' strike will be described tomorrow.)

Rents Going Down, Not Up, in Worcester

Worcester, March 11.—Boston, where rents are being raised unjustly by landlords, who threaten to make hundreds of families homeless unless the extortionate increases are met, can learn a lesson from the methods used here in curbing rent profiteering.

Today, instead of Worcester being faced with the wave of rent-raising which is sweeping over communities nation-wide, rents are actually being lowered.

The decreased rents are du to the Rent Profiteering Commission, an organization which is in constant session and which since its inception six weeks ago has heard and acted on several hundred cases of flagrant profiteering.

LANDLORDS FEAR COURTS.

Threats to bring the individual landlords to court have secured results. In every case that has been heard and judged unfair by the commission the owner of the building involved has seen fit to reduce the rent to a fair rate.

Many cases of houses sold over and over again for no other reason than to raise the rents at each "sale," have been reported. In one case a parcel of property valued at $40,000 carried as many as four mortgages, the two last mortgagees of which carried only values of $1,500.

The Rent Profiteering Commission grew out of a campaign organized by the Worcester Chamber of Commerce. A committee of this organization, under the direction of F. D. E. Babcock, its secretary, tackled the problem alone. The chamber worked in conjunction with the State Commission on the Necessaries of Life, but it was soon seen that the task was too large to be handled by a committee that could devote only part time to the problem.

As a result the permanent commission was appointed. Lieutenant Mark Delaney was made secretary and on him develved most of the active work of the campaign.

Now, whenever a tenant feels he has a just cause for complain, he goes before the commission and is accorded a prompt hearing. Investigations follow and if the contentions of the tenant are borne out the property owner is given notice to bring the rent to an equitable rate or face court action. So far every landlord thus warned has complied.

PROMINENT WOMEN TO APPEAR IN PAGEANT

Prominent Back Bay women will be seen in the pageant, "A Procession of Victories," to be given by the Boston League of Women Voters in Lorimer Hall March 25. Mrs. Thomas Pelham Curtis, chairman of the committee, will appear as "Freedom," and other parts will be taken by Miss Clarissa Curtis, Miss Mary Sigourney, Miss Pauline Cabot, Mrs. Hollis Shaw, Mrs. Francis P. Garland, Mrs. Klaland Sewall, Miss Matilde de Bonnardi, Miss Dorothea Codman, Miss Lena Turnbull and Miss Katherine Sigourney.

RHODE ISLAND WOOD LEAGUE IS FORMED

Newport, R. I., March 11.—The Leonard Wood Republican League of Rhode Island has been formed, and a State committee of 143 citizens appointed to assist in advancing his candidacy. The committee includes former Lieutenant-Governor Roswell S. Burchard, Frank A. Buckout, Walter Curry, J. Russell Hairs, William R. Harvey, William MacCloud, William A. Peckham, William P. Sheffield, Jr., and Edward A. Sherman of this city.

A HOME-MADE GRAY HAIR REMEDY

You Can Make a Better Gray Hair Remedy Than You Can Buy.

Gray, streaked or faded hair is not only unbecoming, but unnecessary.

Anyone can prepare a simple mixture at home that will darken gray hair, and make it soft and glossy. To a half-pint of water add 1 ounce of bay rum, a small box of Barbo Compound and ¼ ounce of glycerine.

These ingredients can be bought at any drug store at very little cost, or the druggist will put it up for you. Apply to the hair twice a week until the desired shade is obtained. This will make a gray-haired person look twenty years younger. It is easy to use, does not color the scalp, is not sticky or greasy and does not rub off.

TUB DRESSES

WHAT Palm Beach wears in January, Boston wears in June. Palm Beach wore tub dresses this season by the score. It looks like a rosy season indeed for the frock of linen, gingham, organdie or voile.

Thousands of lovely tub dresses—every one a Filene value—are ready now. There are organdies as fussy as chiffons, there is the new fabric, English printed sateen. Prices are low—almost all are included between $7.50 and $39.75.

GINGHAM—Made of cotton yarn imported from Egypt. Prices are astonishingly low. Think of a genuine D. & J. Anderson gingham dress for $15.75.

VOILE—Silky, crepe voile that can be crumpled up in the hand and come through the test without a wrinkle; dresses sell as low as $17.50. Colorings are fascinating.

LINEN—Many kinds in Filene dresses—Ramie, French, fine and coarse domestic weaves. Some of these dresses cost as little as $12.75.

ORGANDIE—New colors, like maize and orchid, and taffeta dress styles lift organdie out of the ordinary. Prices begin at $13.75.

SCHOOL CHILDREN SEEK 'GIFT TO FRANCE' PRIZES

School children of Boston and other parts of Massachusetts have already begun to take an active part in the contest conducted by the United States Bureau of Education in connection with the campaign to raise funds for "America's Gift to France." Gold, silver and bronze medals are to be awarded for the best papers on some phase of Franco-American relations. The "Gift" in question is to commemorate the first battle of the Marne, and will consist of a colossal statue to be executed by the American sculptor, Frederick MacMonnies.

DUBS ANDERSON MORAL COWARD

'Dry' Leader Is Fomenting a Revolution, Says New York Assemblyman

By International News Service.

Albany, N. Y., March 11.—William H. Anderson, state superintendent of the Anti-Saloon League which may be subjected to legislative investigation of its prohibition lobbying, today was charged with fomenting a revolution within the United States by Assemblyman Louis A. Cuvillier.

"We have been asked to throw out the Socialists," declared Cuvillier, who besides being a member of the judiciary committee, which conducted the Socialist inquiry, is sponsor for the investigation resolution aimed at the Anti-Saloon League.

"We are asked to expel them for giving aid and comfort to an enemy outside the country, but we haven't done anything yet with Anderson, who is causing a revolution within the country by bringing the religious question to the fore.

"Mr. Anderson is six feet tall, 46 years old and big and healthy, but I did not see him in any war for his country," continued Cuvillier.

"He is a moral and physical coward and the 25 ex-service men in this assembly resent his threatening and bulldozing. Remember, there was one man sent to the penitentiary for insulting the legislature. If the Republican party had a leader in this state Anderson would have been in jail long ago."

HOLLISTON HERMIT IS FOUND DEAD IN SHACK

Holliston, March 11. — William Briggs, 70, was found dead in his shack on the Holliston road between this town and Hopkinton by farm hands.

Briggs earned his living by chopping wood. It is believed that he has been dead some time. A search was made of his papers in the hope of locating his relatives. He came here from New Brunswick about 30 years ago, and was employed on the estate of Judge W. A. Kingsbury previous to his hermitage in the woods.

$1,500,000 TO 'REBUILD' MEN

Rehabilitation Hospital for Victims of Accidents in New England States

Worcester, March 11.—A huge rehabilitation hospital for New England victims of industrial accidents is to be built at a cost of $1,500,000. It will probably be located in this city.

The resolution launching the project was passed without discussion by the New England Accident Prevention Congress sitting here today.

Committees are to be appointed to raise the funds. So far as is possible, the money will be collected from New England manufacturers. If necessary, an appeal for appropriations will be made to the Legislatures of the six New England States.

The hospital will be known as the "Rehabilitation Manual Training Hospital for the Working Men and Women of New England."

It is expected that big manufacturing plants will support the institution by voluntary contributions.

Famous Movie Star Condemns Curling Iron

"Little Mary" Pickford, whose pretty, curly locks have been so much admired, writes that she has never used the curling iron. She fails to see the wisdom of burning the life and of the hair.

That the heated iron is ruinous to the hair is being more and more appreciated. Many are discarding this instrument of torture in favor of plain liquid silmerine. This is not only harmless, but is really beneficial to the hair instead of giving one's tresses a burnt-up, lifeless appearance, it gives them a bright lustre, and the curliness looks altogether natural. It is a simple thing to procure a few ounces of liquid silmerine from the druggist and apply a little with a clean toothbrush—from root to tip—before doing up the hair. The beautiful, wavy effect which results is agreeably surprising.—Advertisement.

SCORE TRIUMPH IN 'RIGOLETTO'

Ruffo, Macbeth and Schipa Give Memorable Performances of Verdi's Opera

A night of splendid triumph for Titta Ruffo, Florence Macbeth and Tito Schipa marked the highly successful presentation of "Rigoletto" in Italian by the Chicago Opera Company at the Boston Opera House, Selden it is, even in musical Boston, that artists take six curtain calls, repeat an entire scene and then must appear half a dozen times more before the mad applause is stilled.

But to the credit of Ruffo, who sang with power and understanding the title role, and Macbeth, as Gilda, the hunchback's daughter, who rose to heights of sweet but controlled majesty with the liquid Italian, be it said that they insisted upon Gino Marinuzzi, the capable conductor, sharing their curtain calls.

SCHIPA A PASSIONATE DUKE.

Schipa made a passionate duke, nor forgot to use his excellent tenor to good effect, despite his faithful acting. His work with Macbeth in the second act will be favorably recalled long after the Chicago opera has left Boston.

And what more businesslike, as well as more truly bass, assassin could be desired than Edouard Cotreuil, who rumbled quite royally as Sparafucile? Marie Claessens, as Maddalena, made an enviable assassin's sister, and Constantin Nicolay was most sorrowful as Count Monterone.

Italian residents of Greater Boston attended in force to laugh or weep at Piavey's libretto and be thrilled by the art of Verdi's score.

SOCIETY OUT IN FORCE.

Society was out in its usual force, but the audience that packed into the every seat and all available standing room was truly cosmopolitan.

The corps de ballet appeared, but had little to do. It did that little well.

Society Has Many Opera Box Parties

In the company entirely filling the Opera House, but not as brilliant socially as on former evenings, were Mrs. Harold Jefferson Coolidge wearing pink and silver brocade; Mrs. Alfred Rodman Weld, gray brocaded satin with silver; Mrs. Francis P. Sears in white palliated tulle over satin combined with apple green, with Miss Susan Belmont Sturgis in black jetted tulle; Mrs. R. V. R. Crosby, pink and silver, Miss Katharine Crosby, turquoise changeant taffeta; Mr. and Mrs. Robert Jordan, Mr. and Mrs. Harold Peiman and Mr. and Mrs. Livingston Davis. Mesdames Jordan, Peiman and Davis all wearing black velvet.

Mrs. Timothee Adamowski, who was with Mrs. Eben D. Jordan, wore turquoise and gold brocade. Mrs. Jordan, black satin and tulle; Mrs. Charles J. Fitch, pale blue satin with touches of black; Miss Phyllis Fitch in black velvet with jet; Mrs. Francis Lee Higginson, black satin and tulle, Miss Corina Higginson, brown satin and tulle, her sister in deep pink with silver; Mrs. Richard Harte, pale blue satin with white lace, her sister, Miss Frances Webster, black velvet with white lace; Miss Sybil Appleton, brown tulle; and Miss Anna Wheeler, pink satin.

Others there were Dr. and Mrs. Charles A. Porter with their subdebs to the dances, Miss Isabel and Miss Margaret Porter, both wearing pink tafeta, he and Mrs. Richard F. THE DEAF HEAR

Sent by his family Physician to Dr. Walsh, to be treated for Deafness and Head noises. He writes an inquirer regarding his experience!

Fitchburg, Mass., Feb. 26, 1920.

Dear Sir:

In reply to your kind letter I must say that last July I had head noises and my hearing was affected. A Fitchburg Physician advised me to consult Dr. Walsh of the Osmo-Chemic System of Medicine in Boston. I did so and was treated for three months by him. He banished my head noises and restored my hearing. His treatment is pleasant to take, and able to work during the treatment. I would advise you to have Dr. Walsh treat you. (Signed) Arthur Landry, 42 Hartford St., Fitchburg, Mass.

The wonderful power of the X-RAY TREATMENT is proved by the fact that they are accomplishing wonderful results in cases of many years' condition—CATARRH, DEAFNESS, NOISES IN HEAD, STOMACH DISEASES, NERVOUSNESS, KIDNEYS, SKIN DISEASES, BIRTH-MARKS, MOLES, FACIAL BLEMISHES, ETC.

No matter what your disease may be, remember that the Osmo-Chemic doctor cures.

CONSULTATION and a Trial Treatment and Medicines Absolutely FREE to all who call before March 16th.

GAINS WEIGHT; FEELS FINE

Mr. Clyde Shearer, 722 East Seventh street, Jamestown, N. Y., writes: "I am using Cadomene Tablets and they are making me feel fine since taking them. I have gained ten pounds in flesh and feel better every day."

Thousands of nervous, thin, weak, aching, impoverished men and women are daily getting vast benefits from taking Cadomene Tablets. They are not a "cure all," but just a wonderfully effective tonic to the organs of the body. Sold by druggists everywhere.—Advertisement.

BARTLETT STILL FOURTH IN DELEGATE CONTEST

Concord, N. H., March 11.—With twenty-five towns missing, Governor John H. Bartlett still runs fourth in the contest for delegates to the national Republican convention. He is 624 votes behind the leader of the "Big Four." The vote now stands: Mayor Frank Knox of Manchester, 6,820; Frederick W. Estabrook of Nashua, 6,665; former Mayor Charles Gale Shedd of Keene, 6,343, and Governor Bartlett, 6,194. These candidates are all pledged to General Wood. The remainder of the ticket stands: Merrill Shurtleff, 3,443; S. F. Worcester, 2,871; Lieutenant F. N. Beckwith, 2,358; Charles W. Tobey, 1,172; W. R. Clough, 1,068, and J. W. Flaherty, 1,537.

MAYOR SULLIVAN, OF WORCESTER, IS ILL

Worcester, March 11.—Mayor Peter F. Sullivan is confined to his home with a severe cold. For the first time since his inauguration he has been forced to stay away from City Hall.

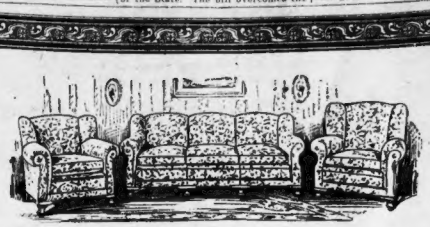
NEW YORK YIELDS TO SUPREME COURT RULING

Albany, N. Y., March 11.—The State Assembly today passed the Davenport bill to allow non-residents the same exemptions under the State income tax as are granted to residents of the State. The bill overcomes the unconstitutionality of the law, found by the United States Supreme Court. The measure has passed the Senate and goes to the Governor.



We Sell Furniture to Millionaires, But—

We'd rather sell to people who need our services than to those who have unlimited money to spend for their home furnishings.

It is the man who earns $20, $25, $30, $35, $40, $50 or $60 a week who appreciates the opportunity to buy on credit at prices that are guaranteed to be lower than those of any furniture store in Boston.

As a matter of fact, the man who earns $1000 a month appreciates that saving also. Whether he pays spot cash or whether he takes advantage of our friend-making, family-helping credit system, he is anxious to buy at prices that help lower his cost of living.

If it is credit you want, we give you a year or more to pay, without any extra cost.

We want to be of service to people who are starting housekeeping, as well as to those who are refurnishing their homes. To make clear what we mean, we keep repeating our money-saving, credit-giving offer.

You can open an account from $5 to $5000, no matter where in New England you live. (We pay the freight.)

Suite as illustrated, 3 pieces, covered with beautiful high-grade tapestry, best of construction, large roomy wing chairs and sofa with loose cushions, spring edges and backs. Price $390.00.

IRISH COLLEENS TOUR BOSTON

Accompanied by Male Singers, They Make Appeal for Sale of Bonds

Four young women, clad in the costumes of Irish colleens, left the headquarters of the American Commission on Irish Independence today on a tour of the city in aid of the Irish Bond Certificate Drive.

The colleens with two male singers rode in an automobile covered with placards urging the purchase of Irish bonds.

A mass meeting will be held in Brockton tonight at which a number of speakers will reply to the statements of the Rev. James Homes, pastor of the First Baptist Church of that city. The Rev. Mr. Homes is alleged to have criticized the Mayor and city government for inviting President Eamon De Valera to Brockton.

It was announced that a number of gatherings would be called off tonight because of the illness of Dr. Patrick McCarthy, who was attacked by influenza in New York.

Canvassers today solicited from policemen and firemen, and it is expected that the district chiefs of the fire department will make substantial contributions.

Among the subscriptions reported were Dr. J. L. Gavin, No. 1436 Dorchester avenue, $25; Dr. Edward A. Tracy, No. 59 Lenox street, Dorchester, $10; Rev. Fr. Murphy and Rev. Fr. Maguire, St. Ambrose's Church, $10 each; Dr. E. H. Schott, $10.

Ward 6, South End, reported Dr. Walter P. McCauley, No. 1746 Washington street, $50; Dr. Walter G. McCauley, No. 1686 Washington street, $30; Dr. Fagan, Dudley street, Roxbury, $20; Dr. McNally, Massachusetts avenue, $20; Dr. Peter Flemming, No. 1258 Blue Hill avenue, $10. The last four named purchased from the Ward 12 committee.

Ward 23 reported the Rev. John F. Cummings, Sacred Heart Church, Roslindale, $100; Rev. John Broderick, St. Theresa's Church, West Roxbury, $100; Rev. Henry C. Reardon, $25; Rev. John D. Mora, $10; Dr. Francis X. Dolan, $10; Dr. Shea, Forest Hills, $10; Dr. King, Roslindale, $25. Ward 16—Mrs. McCue collected $1.00 and Mrs. Theresa Shea was second with $800 in subscriptions.

Dr. William J. Gallivan of South Boston contributed $10.

FORMER ROOF GARDEN OF WETMINSTER BURNS

A fire in the superstructure on the roof of the Hotel Westminster, formerly used as a roof garden bar, illuminated Copley Square and attracted many theatre goers, but did little damage and was extinguished at the loss of $2,500. Most of the loss was by water.

That the blaze did not spread to other parts of the hotel, was due to the walls of the superstructure being built of brick and terra cotta. The guests quickly found they had no cause for alarm.

The flames bursting through the skylight of the superstructure lent a spectacular effect to a rather insignificant blaze. Abandoned and surplus baggage stored in the structure was destroyed, charred trunks and bags being removed by the firemen when the flames had been extinguished.

Miss Clasie Sewell, a member of the "Honey Girl" Company, playing at the Park Square Theatre and Miss Virginia O'Brien, prima donna in the "Royal Vagabond," who occupied a room on the top floor of the hotel directly under the superstructure fled to avoid the water from the hose of the firemen.

LIQUOR SMUGGLER SHOT DEAD BY CUSTOMS MAN

Van Buren, Me., March 11.—Candide Dumias of Van Buren was shot and killed by Customs Officer Emile J. Vanier when he was caught attempting to smuggle thirty gallons of alcohol across the Canadian border. Albert Monteault, also of Van Buren, an alleged accomplice, is being sought by the authorities.

DRUG AGENT GETS SIX MONTHS' JAIL TERM

For having narcotic drugs on his person, Talbot Scott of South Boston was sentenced to serve six months in the House of Correction by Judge Dowd today. He appealed and was held in $500 bonds. When arrested he had five "decks" of morphine and one of cocaine.

FOUND INNOCENT OF DRIVING WHILE DRUNK

William J. Currier of Concord street, South End, was discharged by Judge Parmenter when found not guilty of driving an automobile while under the influence of liquor. There had been a collision with a street car.

THOUSANDS HAVE KIDNEY TROUBLE AND NEVER SUSPECT IT

Applicants for Insurance Often Rejected

Judging from reports from druggists who are constantly in direct touch with the public, there is one preparation that has been very successful in overcoming these conditions. The mild and healing influence of Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root is soon realized. It stands the highest for its remarkable record of success.

An examining physician for one of the prominent Life Insurance Companies, in an interview on the subject, made the astonishing statement that one reason why so many applicants for insurance are rejected is because kidney trouble is so common to the American people, and the large majority of those whose applications are declined do not even suspect that they have the disease. Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root is on sale at all drug stores in bottles of two sizes, medium and large.

However, if you wish first to test this great preparation send ten cents to Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghamton, N. Y., for a sample bottle. When writing be sure and mention the Boston American.—Advertisement.

Trade Union Congress Votes Against "Direct Action" for Nationalization of Mines

London, March 11. — The trade union congress by a large majority today voted to reject "direct action" as a means of forcing the government to nationalize coal mines.

The vote stood:

For "direct action," 1,050,000.

Against "direct action," 3,870,000.

By "direct action" the labor leaders mean a general strike, instead of employing political pressure upon Parliament.

The miners already have voted in favor of a national strike to force the government to take over the mines.

CUSTODY OF CHILDREN IS GIVEN TO MOTHER

DISCHARGE FOUR IN MUG-BREAKING CASE

Because of lack of sufficient evidence, four men, charged with breaking four coffee mugs in a Bowdoin square restaurant, were discharged from court today. They are William Chiscariello, Michail Gerect, Salvatore Freeman and William Kelly.

LARCENY OF CASE OF SHOES CHARGED

Joseph Hotze of Dwight street, South End, appeared before Judge Dowd today charged with stealing a case of shoes valued at $120 from persons unknown to the police. The man was followed by an officer and arrested when the goods were found in his room. He refused to tell where he got them. The case was continued until next Tuesday, following his plea of not guilty.

Give Stomach What It Needs

The Alkaline Effect of Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets Usually Corrects the Stomach Faults that Provoke Attacks of Indigestion or Dyspepsia.

To sit back after a good meal and know there is not going to be sour risings, gas, drowsiness and discomfort is the logical result of using Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets immediately after eating. Most people believe they can trace each attack of indigestion to the something they ate and can still "taste." And it surprises them, invariably, to note how quickly relief comes after using one or two of these tablets. Whether it is highly seasoned food, rich pastry, the heavy, hearty food, or some one particular offender foods or some one particular offender the same. Those the relief comes just the same. Those who are susceptible to attacks of indigestion or dyspepsia, should try Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets as they supply the stomach with an alkaline effect just as it does naturally when it is working in a perfectly healthy condition.

Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets are so widely known and used that you can get them in any drug store in the United States and Canada at 50 cents a box.

BRIDAL FINERY CLAIMS EYE

New Modes Riot of Gorgeous Colors Blending Exquisitely With Complete Garment

Color this Spring is the word. And the miss has come into her own, with charm and imperiousness.

Probably it would be hard to find a suit that would please the young girl more than the one shown in the cut. It is of dark blue tricotine, with just a suggestion of the Eton jacket in the coat which comes a wee bit below the waist. The smart narrow belt, of the same material as the suit, is effect, so far as its tailored effect goes, by the very daring sash of tricolette with fringe. The model is one of many for the miss shown at Filene's Misses' Suit Shop.

FOR WEDDING NEGLIGEE.

But for the young girl choosing her wedding negligee, the one in the cut, which may be seen at the Jordan Marsh Company's display, is one to tempt the most fastidious little lady.

Is is of accordion pleated crepe de chine, in a fragile shade of pink, with a loose flowing over robe of hand embroidered chiffon. At the knee, in circular fashion dropping from the middle, is subtle embroidery made upon the under robe, showing delicately through the drapping.

There is one thing without which no woman's wardrobe is complete. That is the gown which may be used either as an afternoon or as an informal dinner dress. One in new blue, of satin and georgette crepe combined, with soft tones of taupe, short sleeves, and waist embroidered with jet beads, shown at Butler's, is enough to give a woman pause to think.

SOME CLOTHES PHILOSOPHY.

Certain bits of clothes philosophy the Boston woman picks up during fashion week. She learns, for one thing, that ruffled sweaters have come in strong again; that heather mixture wools, with blue in the lead, are to be sought for by the modish woman; that Angora trimming is popular; that taffeta fluting about the round neck and attached to the full peplum of a dress and sleeve ruffles adds a demure touch to be sought.

Stripe effects, made with sleeve ruffles, are quite the thing; hand embroidered flowers of wool or chenille or even of raffia give a touch unique. Color is everywhere, and this holds good of blouses, quite as much as of sweaters, or hats, or gowns for afternoon or evening.

Chic Spring Fashions Are Practical and Tasteful

Afternoon dress of georgette and satin, new blue in color, with waist embroidered with jet beads, seen at Butler's.

SEPARATE SUPPORT ORDER EXCESSIVE, SAYS MORRILL

Leon G. Morrill of Brookline filed an appeal in the Superior Court at Dedham against the separate support granted to his wife, Mrs. Florence Morrill of Brookline, by the Probate Court on January 27, when he was ordered to pay $200, and $200 a month hereafter for her support and that of their two children. He declared the court award to be "grossly excessive," the separate support order to be "unjustified by the evidence" and he protests against his wife being given custody of the children.

Only Bachelor Opera Tenor Would Wed

Copyright by Lumiere.

TITA SCHIPA.

Tita Schipa is the rarest flower that blooms, a grand opera tenor who is a bachelor. Caruso is married. John O'Sullivan has a wife and four children. John McCormack is a benedict, so is Martinelli and all the other high-priced tenor stars.

Schipa, pronounced "Skipa," is positively the last chance for any American girl to grab off a grand opera tenor of the first rank. Positively no more to be had. Furthermore, he is young and good looking, and, like Barkis, he is willing. He doesn't know what kind of a girl he likes the best.

"I like the French girls, the Italians, the Mexicans, the Spanish and the English. The American girl I like very much. I like all girls. I think maybe I marry an American girl, because she seems to be a combination of all the others."

And with such sentiments as those Schipa had the nerve to sing in "Rigoletto" at the Chicago opera. La donna e mobile, which means "woman is fickle."

What's In a Name?

By MILDRED MARSHALL

Copyright, 1919, The Wheeler Syndicate, Inc.

EVANGELINE

THE very essence of poetry is captured and imprisoned in the name Evangeline. The legend of that beautiful and unhappy maiden whose fateful wanderings were immortalized by Longfellow surrounds the name with romance and charm beyond all other feminine names.

Evangeline is derived from the Greek, and signifies angel-like. It also has the translation "happy messenger," since it comes from the Greek word meaning well, happy, combined with another word meaning moving, the whole forming Evangelus, bearer of good tidings. The term applied originally to a shepherd, who brought to Ephesus the tidings of a quarry of beautiful marble for the building of the temple that was the glory of the city and of Asia. Adored with heroic honors as he was, the title must have seemed to the Ephesian Christians to fit those spiritual shepherds who brought the best of tidings and Evangelista became the term for preachers.

Evangelista was an old Italian name, and Longfellow seems to have borrowed it and invented his Evangeline purely for use in his poem. It is from his adoption that all the American Evangelines are derived, so it may perhaps be called the purest American feminine name which we have. Certainly Longfellow has described an ideal American girl:

"Fair was she to behold, that maiden of seventeen Summers, Black were her eyes as the berry that grows on the thorn by the wayside, Black, yet how softly they gleamed beneath the brown shade of her tresses, Sweet was her breath as the breath of the kine that feed in the meadows. When in the harvest heat she bore to the reapers at noontide, Flagons of home-brewed ale. Ah fair in sooth was the maiden. When she had passed it seemed like the ceasing of exquisite music."

Evangeline's talismanic gem is the ruby, that warm pulsing stone which is said to be an elixir of great potency for the wearer. Its medicinal qualities were held in great esteem by the ancients, and from it the potion known as "ruby elixir" is said to have arisen. To dream of a ruby signifies unexpected guests. The lily, denoting purity, is Evangeline's flower. Tuesday is her lucky day and No. 3 her talismanic number.

TALK FOR CHILDREN AT ART MUSEUM SATURDAY

A treat is in store for children in the lecture hall of the Museum of Fine Arts on Saturday, March 13, at 2 p. m. Miss Anna C. Chandler, story teller at the Metropolitan Museum of Art in New York, will illustrate with lantern slides her talk on "Down the Road to Long Ago." Miss Chandler has been speaking every Sunday afternoon at the Metropolitan Museum to large audiences.

MORALS FIRST, SAYS FILM MAN

Fred B. Murphy Denies Movie Men Are Providing Funds to Fight Censor Bill

"We are not in an illegitimate business. Every man at the head of the film industry in this State is a married man and head of a family. We are not placing the dollar ahead of the morals of children. We are doing everything under the sun to promote films suitable and eminently proper for all to see; good, big, broad, wholesome shows."

This was the statement today of Fred B. Murphy, President of the New England Film Managers Association, an organization embracing all distributers of films coming into New England, in an interview on the question of a State censorship for motion pictures for Massachusetts.

Mr. Murphy is the first representative of the motion picture industry to record a protest against the bill now in the hands of the legislative Committee on Mercantile Affairs. Probably no other man in New England knows more about the motion picture industry than he does.

"It has been charged by the proponents of the bill for a State censorship that the industry has brought a large sum of money into the State to fight the bill. This is a contemptible charge. It is absolutely untrue. Whoever made that statement does not know the film industry and does not know the men who are in this industry.

"This charge was made, doubtless, to show by in nuendo that the film producers and distributers were piecing the dollar ahead of the morals of the community and what is right for the children of this community.

"It is a strange fact, but true, that many of the women now favoring this measure, have been to our organization time after time for films for charity use. We have gone to great expense and have willingly done so, in order to help those who wanted films for any good, legitimate purpose.

"We, of the film business, favor the Boston plan for censorship. We believe that there are enough laws to protect the people. And we believe that the people of Massachusetts are pretty good moralists themselves and will not allow pictures they regard as evil to go uncriticised and without recourse to the laws we now have which have always proved sufficient to protect the citizens of this State."

KENNEDY ASSOCIATES AT BANQUET TONIGHT

The annual banquet and musical entertainment for the Kennedy Associates of the "Live Store," Summer street, will be held tonight at the Thorndike Hotel. The committee has arranged a fine spread and an excellent musical program by Hicks' jazz orchestra. Soloists will be Thomas Lannigan, Miss Beasie Warren, Wallace Sharples, William Coughlin, John Riley and the Melody quartet. Joseph McMahon will be toastmaster and the guests will include H. A. Burnell, Walter Weld, John A. O'Malley, John A. Lyons and Ludwig Stein of Chicago. The officers of the association are Mark J. Brown, president; George Kellenberg, vice-president; Frank P. Bradley, treasurer; William F. Duncan, recording secretary; John Saunry, financial secretary.

SENATOR JOHN J. MAHONEY BURIED

Men Prominent in City and State Affairs at Funeral of Charlestown Man

The funeral of Senator John J. Mahoney of No. 8 Monument square, Charlestown, was held today from his home.

A solemn high mass was celebrated in St. Mary's Church, Warren street, Charlestown, at 10 o'clock. The ushers were Election Commissioner Edward P. Murphy, former Councilman Daniel J. McDonald, Martin Higgins and Martin Carney.

The pallbearers were Fire Commissioner John H. Murphy, William Donovan, Eugene McCarthy, Dennis McCarthy, Frank Stacey and John J. O'Brien.

The burial was in Holyhood Cemetery, Brookline.

A section of the pews in the church were reserved for members of the General Court, also members of the organizations of which the Senator was a member, including the James E. Hayes Council, K. of C.; Bunker Hill Court, M. C. O. F.; the Charlestown Improvement Association, Old Charlestown Schoolboys' Association, the former members of the Catholic Literary Union and Charlestown Business Men's Association, also representatives of the Charlestown Cooperative Bank, of which Senator Mahoney was the president since its organization, five years ago; the Charlestown Trust Company, of which he was a director; the Democratic city committee, of which Mr. Mahoney had been president.

Curtis Heads Police at Canney's Funeral

Police Commissioner Edwin U. Curtis and Superintendent Michael H. Crowley headed the police force delegation attending the funeral of Captain James P. Canney of the Lagrange street station from his late home at No. 9 Claybourne street, Dorchester, with a high mass of requiem celebrated by Rev. John A. Coughlan in St. Peter's Church.

Burial was in St. Joseph's Cemetery, West Roxbury.

The long array of blue-coated policemen, in their new uniforms, made an imposing picture as the casket was carried between the lines, and when they led the cortege from the house to the church and again from the church to the corner of Harvard and Bowdoin streets.

In charge of the detail of forty-eight patrolmen, twenty-four of whom were from the Lagrange street station, were Captain Patrick F. King, drill master; Lieutenants John M. Dubbyn and Arthur B. McConnell of station 4; Sergeant George Dickinson of 13, John Corcoran and Joseph Laffey of 2 and Louis Luis of 16.

The honorary pallbearers were Captain Richard Fitzgerald, Captain John E. Driscoll, Captain Jeremiah F. Gallivan, Captain Michael J. Goff, Captain Clinton S. Bowley and Captain Forrest F. Hall. The active bearer were Sergeants Thomas F. Harrigan, Michael J. Trainor, John J. Hanrahan, Henry T. Grace and Patrick J. Mahoney.

Bored Hole in Wall to Get Divorce Evidence

Bridgeport, Ct., March 11.—A new method of obtaining evidence was disclosed in the divorce suit of Walker S. Kupfer against Ruth Baker Kupfer.

Mrs. Catherine Park, sister of Mrs. Kupfer, testified that she hired an apartment next to the Kupfers and bored a hole through the walls in order to get evidence against her sister.

She said Mrs. Kupfer went out almost every afternoon, and that she suspected she went to meet men. Asked the reason for her suspicion, Mrs. Park said that Mrs. Kupfer always wore cotton hose when she went out with her husband.

OIL MEN PREDICT 35-CENT GASOLINE

Chicago, March 11.—Gasoline may go to 35 cents before the end of 1920, according to oil men attending the National Petroleum Congress. An advance of from 4 to 6 cents a gallon before the end of the Summer is predicted.

LABOR AGITATOR ACCUSES POLICE

Declares New Bedford Officers Advised Strikers to Go Back to Work

New Bedford, March 11.—Charging that policemen assigned to duty at the gates of the National Spun Silk Mill, where 800 operatives, members of the Amalgamated Textile Workers are on strike, were guilty of conduct unbecoming their office, Charles A. Blanchett, an organizing agent of the Amalgamated, threatens to take his grievances to Mayor Charles S. Ashley when he returns from New York.

Mr. Blanchett declared at a meeting of the union, attended by nearly 500 of the strikers, that certain policemen pushed and shoved the strikers gathered about the gates at the factory, advising them to return to work. "The police officials in charge of the details were conversing with the bosses inside the gates," he said, "where they were subject to contamination by the malicious propaganda which the management has been circulating to hurt our cause."

At police headquarters it was denied that anything of the kind had taken place. "I had charge of one detail," an officer attached to the central station said, "and none of my men advised any of the strikers to return to their jobs. I told several of them who were standing about that they would have to go away or go to work. And if they refused to move, I started them on their way. No policeman employed more force than was called for, however."

Regular Habits Produce a Beautiful Complexion

Daily elimination rids the system of poisons. Women should realize that!

MANY women complain daily of their complexion, of their headaches and general ill health, little realizing that the trouble is constipation. Women, too, are much more subject to such congestion than men, and much more careless of it. The result is seen in lusterless, weary eyes, in sallow, pimply complexion, in lassitude, bad breath, and in that word so often used, "indisposed."

At the first sign of these symptoms the wise woman will take a laxative, and will see that the young girl and others in her care do likewise. Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin is the favorite with thousands of women because it is mild and gentle in its action and in the end trains the stomach and bowel muscles to do their work naturally without the aid of medicine.

This combination of simple laxative herbs with pepsin, which can be bought at any drug store, is also a very sterling first-aid in colds, fevers and other sudden ills that make it advisable to always have a bottle in the home. It is free from narcotics and safe for the tiniest baby.

In spite of the fact that Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin is the largest selling liquid laxative in the world, there being over 6 million bottles sold each year, many who need its benefits have not yet used it. If you have not, send your name and address for a free trial bottle to Dr. W. B. Caldwell, 512 Washington St., Monticello, Illinois.

ELLA WHEELER WILCOX

On Life Beyond the Grave

Letters of Poetess Reveal "Communications From the Spirit World"

London, Dec. 27, 1918.

Probably my last letter to you this year.

Have just been saying "howdy" to Mrs. Woodrow Wilson. Our club gave her a reception. She is very handsome and attractive as well. Looks about thirty.[1] Probably is fifteen more, as women nowadays never look their years. Yesterday I went out and walked down Pall Mall and Piccadilly and saw all the splendid decorations for the route of the President and King. I did not go out to see them pass. Mrs. Randall did, but I can't stand street crowds.

I gave Mrs. Woodrow a copy of one of my little books of verse. Most likely every poet in London will do the same. My publishers wanted me to do it. I had already sent the President one containing two poems about him. "I seen my duty and I done it."

My Mr. Gay is not a hooby or ignorant. He was only not informed about what our men had done to make the armistice possible. All England had suffered and fought so long, when the cessation came it could not think far on any subject. Now it begins to understand. 1,000 and more homes were opened here to American soldiers on Christmas Day. I hear beautiful things said everywhere of us. I am going to write a poem about things. One which will bind closer the two lands. Robert bids me to. Very wonderful communications from him lately.

ALL VERY SIMPLE.

Regarding God's work in this world, it will all be clearer to you when you go over. It is rather late now for you to make your mind over and see things from a true angle. Thirty years of the study of Theosophy have made it all seem very simple to me. Logical and clear. I used, however, to wonder why God and my Guides did not make me see and do things without letting me go through such trouble first. Then it was all cleared up by my own experience.

I stood in the position of a Guardian Angel to a girl relative. From her birth I planned to be her good fairy. I always clothed her and at 12 sent her to school. Planned at 14 to send her to a preparatory school two years and then bring her East and start her on a college course; fit her for some special work and give her a trip to Europe before letting her become self-supporting. To do by her in fact as if she were my own daughter. I had saved money for the undertaking. I had money, love, wisdom, to guide her.

But after one night at the school which I had selected she went home and said she did not want education; she wanted to be an assistant postmistress. Later she asked to be taught stenography and I paid for her training in that line and let her work out her own destiny. With all my love, wisdom and means, I could not force upon her what she was not ready to appreciate.

I am so with Invisible Guides. So with God himself. He sent us to earth to develop free will and character, and He stands ready with his Guides and Helpers to give whatever we really want enough to seek persistently. If we do not want it enough in this life we must wait till we do. A pupil once said to a Hindoo Master that he wanted to know the Truth about God. The master, who sat by the Riverside, seized the pupil and held him under the water till he was nearly drowned. When he let him up he asked him:

"What did you long for while in the river?" "Air, sir," said the pupil.

"Well, when you long for knowledge of God just that way, it will come," was the reply.

So few people really WANT a thing. They wabble and wish and scatter their forces and waste time and eternity by lack of concentrated power. The orthodox creed has done a lot to make people spiritual loafers. They will be so surprised when they cross over and find what a very crude place they occupy Over There by their lack of developing the Divinity within. But they will be given help to begin all over there.

The whole vast Scheme of Existence fills me with awe and reverence the more I think and study on it. What is not clear I can leave till later, since such miracles have been made clear to me. Just what Robert has revealed is so amazing that I am ready to spend my last years in adoration of that Power which made the solar system and a million other solar systems beyond the one we see.

It is great to find such men as Sir Oliver Lodge and William Barrett with their big scientific brains coming into the same reverent state, by their research. I am so thankful to be here where such minds have made a most uplifting atmosphere and where I can add my little Voice as well the Great Chorus that is going on.

PRAISED BY WOMEN.

Today at Mrs. Wilson's reception, fully five fine women came and told me how stirring and wonderful they found my address the other day on "Things Psychic." That made me happier than all the praises of my poems I hear.

Mrs. Randall and I spent a nice, quiet Christmas day here, seeing a few friends. I was thankful to feel so much better in mind and body than I felt a year ago in New York. It gives me a shudder when I think what if I allowed any one or every one to persuade me to give up my idea of coming over. America would have been a living tomb for me. Now by next June I can go back and find my Short Beach environment endurable for the Summer with my year and a half of wonderful experience to remember.

I am feeling every way better for my raw food diet. And sort of dropping tea and coffee; though I confess this holiday week I have wabbled about coffee and taken three cups. After New Year's will be more firm. You never say such lengthy Christmas celebrating as here. Shops closed from Wednesday to Monday! They always have three days it seems. This year five—I don't see how they can do it. Now good-by for this year.

Faithfully,

ELLA.

OLD ENGLISH RECIPE FOR CATARRH. CATARRHAL DEAFNESS AND HEAD NOISES

If you know of some one who is troubled with Catarrhal Deafness, head noises or ordinary catarrh cut out this formula and hand it to them and you may have been the means of saving some poor sufferer perhaps from total deafness. In England scientists for a long time past have recognized that catarrh is a constitutional disease and necessarily requires constitutional treatment. Sprays, inhalers and nose douches are liable to irritate the delicate air passages and force the disease into the middle ear which frequently means total deafness, or else the disease may be driven down the air passages towards the lungs which is equally as dangerous. The following formula which is used extensively in the damp English climate is a constitutional treatment and should prove especially efficacious to sufferers here who live under more favorable climate conditions.

Secured from your druggist 1 ounce of Parmint (Double strength). Take this home and add to it ¼ pint of hot water and a little granulated sugar; stir until dissolved. Take one tablespoonful four times a day. This will often bring quick relief from distressing head noises. Clogged nostrils should open, breathing become easy and hearing improve as the inflammation in the eustachian tubes is reduced. Parmint used in this way acts directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system and has a tonic action that helps to obtain the desired results. The preparation is easy to make, costs little and is pleasant to take. Every person who has catarrh or head noises or is hard of hearing should give this treatment a trial.—Advertisement.

Columbus, Ga., March 11.—Practice games are in full swing down here in Georgia, and from now on the athletes will have something to enjoy besides a couple of tough grinds a day. There'll be practice every morning and a game every afternoon until the Tigers come here and the great tour of the unexplored South starts.

The first contest of the Regulars and Pretenders showed that the pitchers hadn't loosened their arms enough to worry the batters a bit. The boys simply walloped up and pounded the pasts to all corners of the lot.

For the present Stallings has organized all the veterans on one outfit and the aspirants on the other, figuring that the latter will get more chance to show what they have by being in there every day. Ford and Christenbury, the most promising of the infield recruits, are at third and second, respectively, on the Pretenders, but had practically nothing to do in the initial 3gust

Pick Must Battle to Hold Job

Both these birds will be Braves this season beyond any doubt, and it is not impossible that one or both will break into the regular lineup. Pick, who has been perched on second with the vets, has job on his hands to keep the place. Boeckel is acting as if he intended to play real baseball, and if he takes things seriously he will develop into one of the best young infielders and hitters in the game.

Just now Carroll, Powell and Sullivan are in the regular outfield. Cruise having been drafted by the Pretenders to cover first. Walton, it should be remarked, has more pep now than he ever displayed before and it will be a mighty hard job to keep him out of the regular lineup. He is hitting the apple on the nose, has put on weight, and in brief has recovered entirely from the illness that made him a passenger with the Braves a year ago.

Looks Like Regular Outfield This Year

With Carroll, Cruise, Mann and Powell for a starter it begins to look as if the Braves would have a regular outfield a change. This John L. Sullivan looks like a big leaguer, too. He has the ball and bat and is one in the outfit—those long climbing drives that roll for miles on the streetcar line past.

John L. by the way clicked out the first-home run of the year when he left-center that looked like a Babe Ruther. He gets around the bases with remarkable speed for a big, sturdy chap, has an arm and everything like that.

These Brave regulars got off to a good start, by grabbing the opener, 11 to 8. After Hearn, who has more smoke than fast ball, had been retired in the third, Frank Fahey went in and lobbed them over for a couple of chalkers. All the runs and a horde of hits resulted.

Rabbit Starts Brace of Double Plays

Joe Oeschger and McQuillen shared the honors for the victorious squad, and though neither tossed as much, there was no deserved hitting. Four bunched thumps in the second gave the Pretenders their three runs, and let them down. The Rabbit had to get in the picture by starting a couple of double plays, that brought promising rallies to sudden ends.

Little Dick Rudolph celebrated by making his first appearance by pitching to batters, and chances are he will be started in tomorrow's pastime, which will be extended to six innings at least. Today's fray will go the customary five, with Rudolph getting his first chance to out loose. Fillingim, who has a rather stiff arm, was also on the books to get a little real exercise.

Braves' Lack of Pitchers Very Apparent

The Braves' lack of pitchers sticks out now that the games have started. As things are some of the boys will have to work daily in the games, which is no proper state of things for the Boston nine might as well. Braves collect a few more hurlers the team will be in tough shape for the Detroit series, and to mention the start of the season and more serious base ball.

Even a flock of minor leaguers would be welcomed by Manager Stallings down here now.

Eddie Eayrs and Gene Bailey were under the weather with slight colds, and were excused from practice. Both reported better health this a. m and were out with the rest.

COMMERCE HIGH HOLDS LEAD

Gene Hussey Nears Record in 300; Colson and Farley Make Fast Time in 50

The High School of Commerce 8 to 5 six-number English High school to one entry in the finals of the twelfth annual field and track carnival of the Boston Latin and day high school meet, which will be held at the East Armory next Saturday. Commerce qualified thirty-one athletes yesterday in the trials, while English H. placed twenty. Boston Latin School sprung a surprise, showing most strength than they were credited with by qualifying nineteen. Dorchester was next with seventeen, West Roxbury, ten; B. A., H. S. and South Boston, seven; East Boston, six; Hyde Park and Boston Trade, five, and Brighton and Charlestown, four, was the order in which these runners finished.

The closeness of the first four teams will make the meet Saturday an interesting one. Despite the leads in the qualifications by Commerce, the favorite is still English High School. The junior division is the only weakness of the Lady Blue and Dark Blue team, and this deficiency should be made up in the senior and intermediate division.

The chances of Commerce High I greatly in their ability to score in the junior division, and this class may be the turning point of the meet.

The only notable performances of the trials yesterday was the fine work of Ralph Colson in the 50-yard dash, who turned in 5 4-5. Fred Morley of Commerce made 6 1-5 seconds in the intermediate dash.

It is believed all the dash events will stand as records as the distance this year is different from that of former years.

Gene Hussey of Hyde Park High School came within a fifth of a second of tying Billy Nolan's record in the 300-yard dash. He went over the distance in 36 2-5 seconds. If he can duplicate this performance at the trails he should be able to break the 35 4 mark for a winner.

The shot-put events will take place today at the English High Hall. The high and broad jumps will be contested at the same place tomorrow.

HAYES MEETS JOSEPHS AT LOWELL TONIGHT

Everything is ready at the Crescent A. C. Lowell, for Chet Hayes and Bobby Josephs to start on their journey tonight. In the little hall will decide once and for all who is the better man and who the best featherweight around here. Touted at the present time

The two boys are to travel should be far enough to settle without a question which one of them will take a long boat in the feather weight division.

The distance of seven rounds, from which each boy says, will surely have to be carried out, as both boys are in the best condition possible, for two boys to be in

McCreary and Armstrong in Ten-Round Mixup; Jawson to Battle Gray

By RINGSIDE.

The boys who have been watching the little fellows in action in the various local rings will have a heavyweight bout for a change at the Commercial Club tomorrow evening with Battling McCreary and Carlo Armstrong in a ten-round mixup.

In another ten-rounder Joe Jawson of Milwaukee, who has shown well here in his battles to date, will tackle Johnny Gray of Chelsea, while in an eight-round session Teddy Murphy and Charlie Miller come together. Will Jones of the South End and Wesley Veach of South Boston are the stars in the first number of six rounds.

Arsenal A. A. Stages Bouts Tonight

The Arsenal A. Roy Moore Is Type of Boxer That Pleases

Roy Moore, the st. Paul bantamweight star, who displays his wares at the Commonwealth A. A. on Saturday night is the big demand throughout the country.

Moore is one of the most estimatory fighters since the days of Terry McGovern. He keeps tearing from gong to gong and never seems to tire. In Freeman he will meet a boy who knows the game from A to Z and one of the fastest lads in the country.

Jack Rivers, the hard hitting Gloucester middleweight, will meet Jack Savage, the fighting policeman of Brockton, in a semi-windup of ten rounds.

In one of the six round bouts, Young Tanay of Jamaica Plain will swap punches with Irish Patsy Mullens, bantamweight champion of Roxbury. In the other six-rounder Jimmy Stelz of Lexington will clash with Jimmy Burke of South Boston.

TAD'S TIDBITS

THE GREATEST FIGHTER HE EVER SAW.

Charlie Hanson, the six day promoter, is a fish fan from waybark, and if you doubt us start chinning with him about the knights of the upholstered mitts. We asked Chas. who in his opinion was the greatest fighter.

"Jim Corbett without a doubt," piped Hanson, taking another draw out of his Jimmy Havana. "My idea of a fighter is a man who can take care of himself when that old gong clangs. You know Corbett could punish a man, jab, uppercut and make him look foolish.

"Very seldom was the old boy rocked. He took care of his face and his hands, too. There are no marks on Corbett. He could take a job as a floorwalker, pose as a hero or take John Barrymore's part right now. There isn't a mark on him, and look at the guys he fought.

"He beat Choynski, Kilrain, Sullivan, Mitchell and fought one of the toughest men that ever lived, Peter Jackson. You know Fitzsimmons barred Jackson when he was a champ.

"Corbett was the greatest exponent of the Queensberry art without a doubt.

"There were other great fighters, of course, and three that I always boosted, Little Terry McGovern, although the opposite of Corbett, was another of my ideals. He was a bulldog, who was always straining at the leash. Anxious, willing, determined, a terrific hitter and as game as a gobbler.

"Then there was Kid McCoy. Oh, a baby! That cool, easy style of his! He was the hand grenade of the prize ring. You never knew when he'd start and when he'd let go, didn't thinks fly? He was always dangerous and always good.

"Then Ketchel. Of course I didn't see much of him, but had he lived I think he'd have made a name almost as great as Corbett. He was absolutely fearless took a punch without changing the expression on his face, and ripped like a snowplow when he got going.

Canada Cal's Chirps.

The Dry Quartette will now sing "Brighten the Corner Where You Are—Use Moonshine."

Nowadays pugilists fight with mitts. In John L. Sullivan's day they fought with fist or mittout, as we say in that dear Berlin.

When the water of a town goes bad the medical authorities "roast" it, and the housewives proceed to "boil" it.

One must have a train of thought to express one's views, mustn't one?

"Silver Threads Among the Gold" is not such a mournful dirge now that silver is at a premium.

If pugilists are ever driven to work, Sharkey has demonstrated their ability to swat flies and put out lights.

He also must "know beans" whose duty it is to spot counterfeit dollars.

Added Starters.

The Pointed Tip Shoelace Company wishes to state that it has a contract with Jack Dempsey to use their strings, and that he will not be able to fight Carpentier until they have finished the special pair which he is to wear in the ring.

Joe Molyihill, the Danbury hatter, announces that Dempsey is tied hand and foot by his company, which has the champion under contract to wear its special kelly. As the colonel is not ready Dempsey is bound by law to hold off until it is. There will be no battle until the old skypiece is worn by him.

Answers to Queries.

F. L. K.—Joe Gans was an oyster opener before he took up boxing. Jimmy Britt was a bookkeeper, as was Jim Corbett. Jim Jeffries was a boilermaker, Jack Dempsey was a cooper. Al Kell was a sign painter, Jack Johnson was a kalsominer. Joe Wolcott was a coal passer on an ocean liner. Peter Jackson was an oarsman. Jem Driscoll was a pressman. Abe Attell was a messenger boy.

CADDOCK SEEKS QUICK WIN

Iowan Sees Chance for Bout With Stecker if He Beats Drake Decisively

When Earl Caddock looking fine as silk, tackles Jimmy Tom Drake at the Grand Opera House tonight in a match to a finish, one of three falls, there is more at stake than the mere winning of the contest. Caddock figures that he cannot be matched to break into big money and also that Joe Stecker is about to be the man to win the championship and I cannot for the life of me see why I should depend whether I can get Joe to sit down and listen to another husky on the mat.

He figures that as Drake lasted nearly an hour with Joe, he can go up to him to win in decisive style and in shorter time, so he intends to make that the case if he can get Drake going on.

Although Drake's speed and accurateness on that with both men planning to put up an aggressive battle from the start it looks like one of those works with Drake doing the stalling and Caddock depending on

DEVENS BOXERS CLEAN UP IN MONTPELIER BOUTS

Montpelier, Vt., March 11.—Sergeant Swanson of Camp Devens knocked out Johnny Hayes of Fort Ethan Allen in the first round. Both are champions of their respective camps. "Chief" Bowles of the fort was knocked out in the second round by Jack Cullen of Devens. Sergt. Harrison of Devens won on a foul from Young Calling of Boston. James Quinney was awarded a decision over Bernard Pembrock in four rounds.

CONNECTICUT STATE GOLF AT BRIDGEPORT

Wants Ministers to Read Sport News

"When the minister learns to use newspaper style, he will have learned to preach so that people can understand him. The minister should read the daily papers. The style they use will help him to speak to people in a way that will demand their attention," declared Dr. Christian F. Reisner of New York, speaking before 500 students of the Boston University School of Theology in Robinson Chapel.

"It is time for the church to get out and advertise. The time is past for ministers to wear a preacher's coat, and preacher's face and manner. It is time for him to be human, to read the sporting pages and talk baseball."

MISSION HILL POST HOLDS SMOKER TONIGHT

The Mission Hill Post, the latest post to receive a charter from the American Legion, will hold a smoker tonight at Tremont Hall, Roxbury, crossing. The program consists of fights in the lightweight, middleweight, bantamweight and featherweight classes. The main bout of the evening is an exhibition fight between Joe Eagan, middleweight champion of New England, and his sparring partner.

CHICK MILLER SEEMS UNABLE TO CATCH ON

Kayo Chick Miller seems to be playing in hard luck. He's so good he can't get a bout. The kayo artist and his manager both agree that there is such a thing as being too poor to get a battle, but here is a real fighter forced to remain idle. Miller is anxious to get a match at some of the so-called title challengers anywhere, anytime.

Legion Basketball

The Everett Legion Basketball team will open a three-game series with the strong Chelsea Legion five at the Everett Armory Friday night.

By TAD McINNIS TO BE RED SOX CLEAN-UP HITTER

By JACK CONWAY.

Hot Springs, Ark., March 11. Stuffy McInnis will probably be the leadup batter of the Red Sox this year. He is the logical candidate to play the role at which Babe Ruth proved such a tremendous success.

McInnis is a natural .300 hitter. This is the clip at which he batted in 1919. Back in the days when he played with the Athletics, the Gloucester favorite won a place with the stars of ballstom as a result of his terrific batting.

With Ruth hitting on high, McInnis batted fifth in the Red Sox list. This was a strategic position for Stuffy and also enabled Babe to get many extra wallops at the bat. It was not always the best policy to pass Ruth and take a chance on McInnis. The latter's batting average was almost as good as that of Ruth.

So Red Sox player has worked any harder than McInnis since arriving here. He went out for practice at 9 a. m. when Barrow gave the signal a day off. He also was on duty at the ball field at noon yesterday when the rest of the squad took a hike over the mountains. A little thing like a muddy field does not worry McInnis when he is preparing for a strenuous pennant fight.

Should Bat Over .300 This Year

With baseball back in its normal state this year, McInnis should bat for well over 300. Judging by his work here, he will be the same fast sure fielder as of former years.

"I never could hurl ball to a dead stuff, discussing fielding. The so-called deadly smashes are usually easy to get or at least knock down. If you knock down a hard drive, you usually have plenty of time to get your man.

It is another story with the easy one. You often don't know whether to dash in and grab the ball or wait and let it come to you. A misjudgment is often fatal. When a ball is hit slowly it is easy for it to be deflected by a pebble or an uneven spot in the diamond. I have known of such balls to take a bad hop and hit the infielder in the face.

The fang don't stop to consider the difficulties of fielding especially when the infielder makes a boot. They will applaud when he knocks down a liner or stops a hot one, but it is much easier to handle than the light infield tap.

Harper Due to Work Out Today

Harry Harper, the southpaw secured from Washington along with Eddie Foster in the trade for Ruth by Ruth and Maurice Shannon became Senators was scheduled to report at the Washington Park for his first workout today. Harper possesses plenty of pitching class, although his record last year was not a brilliant one as far as games won and lost are concerned. He lost a lot of tussles in which he held the opposition to a few hits, but when his team mates failed to register any ammunition behind the plate.

Harry Hooper was expected to arrive here today. With the Red Sox captain on the job, the practice sessions will be featured by a little more pep.

SCHIFF MEETS MARTIN IN QUINCY FEATURE

Charley Cavalli, snowshed it in from Quincy today to say a few words about the battles at the Coliseum A. A. tonight and to advise the Boston fans not to miss the Vincent Martin and Sammy Schiff bout which is billed for the feature attraction.

Frazee Expected Tomorrow

Harry Frazee, 'tis said, will breeze into this town tomorrow. He'll probably issue a flock of statements in which he will reiterate his claim that the Red Sox are not on the market.

Frazee has been quoted as saying that he would sell out his interest in the Sox for a cool million and a quarter. He now declares he intends to hold on to the franchise.

Frazee would undoubtedly sell if he got a high price for the club. But in its present condition the club franchise, interest in the contracts of the players and the equity in Fenway Park are not worth more than $600,000.

ROBINSON AND REED SIGNED UP BY ARMORY

George Robinson of Cambridge, one of the cleverest battlers in the ring today, has been signed up to meet Pal Reed, the hard hitting sailor, in the feature bout at the Grand Opera House next Tuesday evening.

Reed will be a case of a skillful veteran against a strong willing youngster who carries a punch and a matter fact to-do-or-die attitude in pursuing the plate.

The semi-final will introduce Harry Martin, a brother of Terry, who battles Tommy Marks. Two six rounders will complete the program.

FRAMINGHAM BOY STARS WITH GIANTS

Arthur White of Framingham is making good with a vengeance down at Texas with the Giants. His work in the infield, both at shortstop and at second base, and his work at the bat label him as one of the coming players.

Yesterday he accepted four chances at second base without an error and poled out a homer in his first time at the plate.

This Day in Our History—March 11, 1920

THIS is the anniversary of the sailing of the steamer President, from New York, in 1841, for Liverpool. She carried many passengers and a valuable cargo. She was spoken at sea when two days out, but was never heard of again, nor was any wreckage ever washed up.

Shakespeare's Ophelia says, and often has from the anecdotal

I will perhaps be interested to hear that a proposal of marriage was made to me last night. The old adventurer is rather like your Lord Will on a gentle pitch, with a tongue for him and a general keenness of assertive affluence. I said "No" of course, and he asked me if I knew what I was doing? Exactly as if he thought I might be under the delusion of dreaming! I replied that I was quite aware of myself, and, in fact, of the general locality. And, but you say No—he almost whispered in a kind of stupefied amazement—

So Thankful

I replied No, and that was the matter to the addi- sonal remark that I was the last person in the world to marry. Then he rose, very feebly, and I saw that he was really ill, and I was sorry for him. These new ideas of ours are upsetting to the old-fashioned people, and I suppose he thought I was behaving badly to him. But I am not—especially as I am extending [illegible] quarrel. And Diana [illegible] there are many [illegible] things in life I [illegible] could even find [illegible] entertain you become best [illegible] —especially [illegible] themselves [illegible] you Pa, you [illegible] tells a [illegible] thinks that God [illegible] give up everything else to him! Oh, I'm not reasonable—I'm not—I know it's [illegible] helpless with [illegible] dares utter a word o [illegible] dore is on the score to me! How I longed to throw the whole lot of you and have only returned! Your soul! Well! God a mercy on us all of my great friends in Paris, Blanche de Rouailles, sent me a most curious advertisement, which she tells me is appearing in all the French papers—I enclose it for you, as you are so 'scientific' and it may interest you. It is rather curiously worded, and sounds 'uncanny.' But it occupies nearly half a column in all the principal Paris papers and is inserted in five different languages—French, Italian, Spanish, Russian and English. I suppose it is a case of 'do' of some sort. The world is full of scoundrels, even in science. Now remember what I tell you: Come to me at once if I'm and Ma kick over the traces and allow their ingrained selfishness to break out in bounds. There's plenty of room for you in my cosy little flat and we can have a real good time together.

"Don't bother about money—with your talent and knowledge of languages you can soon earn some, and I'll put you in the way of it. You really must do something for your own advantage,—surely you don't mean to waste your whole life in soothing Pa and managing Ma? It may be dutiful, but it must be dull! I don't think all the managing in the world will ever induce Ma to behave herself properly, certainly nothing can ever cure Pa of his detestable [illegible] which are always [illegible] [illegible] he's a perfect "mimser" ready to jump at the little back-door in the smallest provocation. We can never be really grateful enough, dear D., for our sane blessedness. Imagine what life would have been for us with husbands like Pa and Ma, and children after your kind! I could never have taken refuge in God and [illegible] Ma! We would have died sooner than consent to [illegible] [illegible] we would have gone to the stake like martyrs rather than have allowed our bosoms to swell with the bitter pain of [illegible] [illegible] stuffing' (oh yes—there is much to be thankful for in our quarters), and we can go our little lives in peace, knowing that no big-like snoring from the 'superior' brute will disturb the holy hours of the night—and [illegible] never enough to make a little money, we can spend it as we like, without being cross-examined as to why it is that the dress we wore four years ago is worn out, and why we must have another.

"I could run on for pages and pages concerning the blessings and privileges of unmarried women, but I'll restrain my enthusiasm till we meet. Let that meeting be soon!—and remember that I am always at your service as a true friend and that I'll do anything in the world to help you out of your domestic harness. For the old people will soon be so highly instructed as to be able to ignore "mother and father" as easily as kind-hearted parents ignore the parents birds who drive them away from their nesting haunts.

"But Diana was "old-fashioned"—she had an affectionate nature, and she took pathetic pains to persuade herself that "Pa" and "Ma" meant to be kind, and must in their hearts love her, their only child. This was pure fallacy, but it was the one little bit of hope and trust left to her in a hard world, and she was loth to let it go. The smallest expression of tenderness from that ruffled old human terrier, her father, would have brought her to his feet, an even more willing slave to his moods than she already was—a loving embrace from her mother would have moved her almost to tears of joy and gratitude, and would have doubly strengthened her unreasoning and unselfish devotion to the "body" of her duty.

But she never received any such signs of affection or encouragement from years end to years end—and it was like a strange dream to her now to recall that when she had been young, in the time of her "teens," her father had called her his "beautiful girl," and her mother had chosen pretty frocks for her "darling child"! Youth and the prospects of marriage had made this difference in the temperature of parental tenderness. Now that she was at that fatal stop-gap "middle-age" and a hopeless spinster, the pretty frocks and the "beautiful-girl-darling-child" period had vanished with her matrimonial chances. There was no help for it.

Gave a Sigh

At this point in her thoughts she gave a little half-conscious sigh. Mechanically, she folded up Sophy Lansing's letter, and as she did so, noticed that a slip of printed paper had fallen out of it and lay on the floor. She turned herself on her reclining chair and stooped for it; only a few lines of type met her eye, but they were quite sufficient to arrest her attention. It was one of those "Personal" advertisements which are to be found in the agony columns of the daily papers, and which are supposed to be read by the persons for whom they are intended, and by no others. Diana had often wondered who could be the readers of such advertisements, and what could be the results of them, and now, with a sudden impulse of curiosity, she read the following:

"TO ANY WOMAN WHO IS ALONE IN THE WORLD WITHOUT CLAIMS OR HIGH TIME OR HER AFFECTIONS.

"A scientist, engaged in very important and difficult work, requires the assistance and co-operation of a courageous and determined woman of mature years. She must have a thorough knowledge of modern science, and must not shrink from dangerous experiments or be afraid to take risks in the pursuit of discoveries which may be beneficial to the human race. Every personal care, consideration and courtesy will be shown towards her, and she will be paid a handsome sum for her services and be provided with full board and lodging in an elegant suite of apartments placed freely at her disposal. She must be prepared to devote herself for one or two years entirely to the study of very intricate problems in chemistry, concerning which she will be expected to maintain the strictest confidence. She must be well educated, especially in languages and literature, and she must have no ties of any kind or business which can interrupt or distract her attention from the serious course of training which it will be necessary for her to pursue. This advertisement cannot be answered by letter. Each applicant must present herself personally and alone between the hours of 6 a. m. and 8 a. m. on Tuesdays and Fridays only to

"DR. FEODOR DIMITRIUS,
"Chateau Fregonard,
"Geneva."

The more Diana studied this singular announcement the more remarkable and fascinating did it seem. The very hours named as the only suitable ones for interviewing applicants, between 6 and 8 in the morning, were unusual enough, and the whole wording of the advertisement implied something mysterious and out of the common.

"Though I dare say it is, as Sophy suggests, only a snare of some sort," she thought. "And yet to me it seems genuine. But I don't think this Dr. Feodor Dimitrius will get the kind of woman he wants easily. A handsome salary, with board and lodging are tempting enough, but few women would be inclined to take risks in the investigation and discovering of modern science. Some of them are altogether too terrible."

Seemed Remarkable

She read the advertisement carefully through again, then rose and locked it away in her desk with Sophy Lansing's letter. She glanced through the rest of her correspondence, but it was not exciting—someone asking for the character of a servant, another for the pattern of a blouse, a third enclosing a recipe for a special sort of jam, "with love to your sweet kind mother!"

She put them all by, and stretching her arms languidly above her head, caught another glimpse of herself in the mirror. This time it was more satisfactory. Her hair, hanging down to her waist, was full of a brightness, much brighter just now by the sunlight streaming through the window, and her dusky ruby tint gown had a picturesque grace in its white fall and low yoke which suited the tired look of her face and eyes into sonething like actual prettiness.

The far ghost of her lost youth peeped at her for a moment, awakening a smarting sense of regret-fulness. A light tap at the door fortunately turned the current of her thoughts, and the maid, Grace Laurie, entered, bearing a dainty little tray with a cup of tea invitingly set upon it.

"I've just taken some tea to Mrs. May in her bedroom," she said, "and I thought you'd perhaps like a cup."

"You're a treasure, Grace!"—and Diana sat down to the delicate refreshment. "What shall we all do when you go away to be married?"

Grace laughed and tossed her head.

"Well, there's time enough for that, maybe," she replied. "He's not in no hurry, and am I! You will when you're married yourself, I'm done for—there's no more fun. It's drudge, wash, cook and sew for the rest of your days, and no way of getting out of it."

What Has Gone Before

Diana May, daughter of well-to-do commonplace parents, had had her love affair when the story opens with an officer with "expectations." After waiting seven years, the "expectations" were realized and the loved one promptly threw her over for a fairer and younger partner. Diana had spent her life in wondering. She had read books on psychology, natural and physical laws and on evolution and the selection of the species, but she was unable to determine why she came in or how she was to get out. The May family retires to Rose Lea, an estate on the coast of Devon, where Diana delights to ramble through the gardens. She receives a letter from Sophy Lansing, in the lower classes is often a drab, and in the higher a frivolous wastrel; "father" in the slums may beat his children black and blue, and in Mayfair neglect them to the point of utmost indifference,—but "mother and father," totally undeserving as they often are, still come in for a share of their offspring's vague consideration and lingering respect.

"Mistaken" of the worst sort, however, is doing its best to deprive them of this reward, and it appears likely that the younger generation will soon be so highly instructed as to be able to ignore "mother and father" as easily as kind-hearted parents ignore the parents birds who drive them away from their nesting haunts.

But Diana was "old-fashioned"—she had an affectionate nature, and she took pathetic pains to persuade herself that "Pa" and "Ma" meant to be kind, and must in their hearts love her, their only child. This was pure fallacy, but it was the one little bit of hope and trust left to her in a hard world, and she was loth to let it go. Face Clouded

A slight shadow of meditative gravity clouded Diana's face as she finished reading this letter through and pondered over it. She was troubled by her own thoughts. Sophy's lively strictures on her parents were undoubtedly correct and deserved—and yet the "dear mother" were "father and mother" after all! It is curious how these two words still keep their sentimental significance despite "state" education! "Mother"

Easy to Make This Pine Cough Remedy

Thousands of families swear by the prompt results. Inexpensive, and never spoils. 54.

You know that pine is used in many of the best prescriptions and remedies for coughs. The reason is that pine contains several peculiar elements that have a remarkable effect in loosening and healing the membranes of the throat and chest.

Pine cough syrups are combinations of pine and syrup. The "syrup" part is usually plain sugar syrup.

To make the best pine cough remedy that money can buy, put 2½ ounces of Pinex in a pint bottle, and fill up with home-made sugar syrup. Or you can use clarified molasses, honey, or corn syrup, instead of sugar syrup. Either way, you make a full pint—more than you can buy ready-made for three times the money. It is pure, good and very pleasant—children like it.

You can feel this take hold of a cough in a way that is astonishing. The cough may be dry, hoarse and tight, but it will be promptly loosened from the formation of phlegm. The cause is the same—inflamed membranes—and this Pinex and syrup combination will stop that usually in 24 hours or less. Splendid, too, for bronchial asthma, hoarseness, or any ordinary throat ailment.

Pinex is a highly concentrated compound of genuine Norway pine extract, and is famous the world over for its prompt effect upon coughs.

Beware of substitutes. Ask your druggist for "2½ ounces of Pinex" with directions, and don't accept anything else. Guaranteed to give absolute satisfaction or money refunded. The Pinex Co., Ft. Wayne, Ind.—Advertisement.

When you wake up with backache and dull misery in the kidney region it generally means you have been using too much meat, says a well-known authority. Meat forms uric acid which overworks the kidneys in their effort to filter it from the blood and they become sort of paralyzed and lazy. When your kidneys get sluggish and clog you must relieve them, like you relieve your bowels; removing all the body's urinous waste, else you have backache, sick headache, dizzy spells; your stomach sours, tongue is coated, and when the weather is bad you have kidney misery, too. The urine is cloudy, full of sediment, channels often get sore, water scalds and you are obliged to seek relief two or three times during the night.

Either get a few cents' worth of Jad Salts from any druggist and take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast for a few days and your kidneys will then act fine. This famous salts is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and has been used for generations to flush and stimulate kidneys, also to neutralize acids in the urine so it no longer irritates, thus ending bladder weakness.

Jad Salts is a life saver for regular meat eaters. It is inexpensive, cannot injure and makes a delightful, effervescent lithia-water drink.—Advertisement.

IRISH BANKS DEFY PROBE

Refuse to Allow British to Pry Into Books for Sinn Fein Deposits

By Universal Service.

Dublin, March 11.—The banks of Ireland offered defiance to the British government here when they decided to refuse to allow it to pry into their books with a view to determining Sinn Fein deposits.

The banks claim the privilege of inviolability of a depositor's right to secrecy concerning his account. A special court sitting here to start an island-wide inquiry into deposits was adjourned after two witnesses called refused to answer questions and declined to produce book or documents asked for.

The inquiry's ulterior object is said to be to find who has subscribed to the Sinn Fein loan, and how much; the ultimate purpose being confiscation of these subscriptions.

Coughs and Colds That "Hang On"

A Real Menace To Everybody—How To Get Rid of Them

If you cannot get rid of your cough or cold,—if in spite of what you are doing for it, it still hangs on, you are in very real danger.

The longer you have this irritating cough or long-standing cold, the more your resisting power is lowered and the greater need for a wholesome food tonic.

You will find the strength-giving resistance power to get rid of that cold or cough in Father John's Medicine. It soothes and heals the breathing passages, drives off impurities and actually rebuilds wasted flesh and strength.

You can give Father John's Medicine to any member of your family with entire safety because it is guaranteed free from alcohol or dangerous drugs in any form whatever.

HOW TO ACQUIRE HAIR BEAUTY

You can enjoy a delightful shampoo with very little effort and for a very trifling cost, if you get from your druggist, a package of cantharox and dissolve a teaspoonful in a cup of hot water. This makes a full cup of shampoo liquid, enough so it is easy to apply it to all the hair instead of just the top of the head. Your shampoo is now ready. Just pour a little at a time on the scalp and hair until both are entirely covered by the daintily perfumed preparation that thoroughly dissolves and removes every bit of dandruff, excess oil and dirt. After rinsing the hair dries quickly with a fluffiness that makes it seem heavier than it is, and takes on a rich luster and a softness that makes arranging it a pleasure.—Advertisement.

Very Effective Method for Banishing Hairs

(Modus of Today)

At very little cost, any woman can rid her face of hairy growths if she will use the delatone treatment. This is made by mixing some water with a little powdered delatone. This paste is spread upon the hairy surface for 2 or 3 minutes, then rubbed off and the skin washed, when every trace of hair will have vanished. No harm results from this treatment, but care should be used to buy real delatone.—Advertisement.

BLISS NATIVE HERBS TABLETS

If you feel out of sorts, run down or "all in," from over exertion, or if you are CONSTIPATED, or your LIVER is out of order, take BLISS NATIVE HERB TABLETS. You will get up next morning feeling very much better. Each box contains a GUARANTEE coupon, and is sealed with a blue seal bearing signature of ALONZO O. BLISS. New Hair Growth After BALDNESS

HAIR GROWN ON MR. BRITTAIN'S BALD HEAD BY INDIANS' MYSTERIOUS HAIR GROWER

My head at the top and back was absolutely bald. The scalp was shiny. As smart and fine as he thought the hair roots were extinct, and there was no hope of my ever having a new hair growth.

Yet now, at an age over 66, I have a luxuriant growth of soft, strong, lustrous hair! No trace of baldness. The pictures shown here are from my photographs.

At a time when I had become discouraged at trying various hair lotions, tonics, specialists' treatments, etc., I came across, in my travels, a Cherokee Indian "medicine man" who had an elixir that he asseverated would grow my hair. Although I had but little faith, I gave it a trial. To my amazement a light fuzz soon appeared. It developed, day by day, into a healthy growth, and are glad my hair was as prolific as in my youthful days.

Thus I was astonished and happy in expressing my state of mind mildly. Obviously, the hair roots had not been dead, but were dormant in the scalp, awaiting the fertilizing power of the mysterious pomade.

I negotiated for and came into possession of the formula for preparing this mysterious elixir, now called Kotalko, and later had the recipe put into practical form by a chemist.

That my own hair growth was permanent has been amply proved. Many men and women, also children, have reported satisfactory results.

How YOU May Grow YOUR Hair

My honest belief is that hair roots rarely die even when the hair falls out through dandruff, fever, excessive dryness or other disorders. I have been told by experts that often when hair falls out the roots become imbedded within the scalp, covered by hard skin, so that they cannot push for a time like new seeds in a bottle which will grow when fertilized. Shampoos (which contain alkali) and hair lotions which contain alcohol are enemies to the hair, as they do, in making it brittle, Kotalko contains those elements of nature which give new vitality to the scalp and hair.

COPPERS RISE IN BOSTON

Prices Up on the Local Exchange; Better Tone on the Curb

The Boston market had a firm start, initial prices on the exchange ruling higher and with coppers strong as a class. Ventura was an active oil and sold at its highest for the year to date. New England rails failed to follow carriers in New York. Nothing was done in Boston & Maine and New Haven issues, but the trifling gain Ohio Body was among the strongest issues, advancing more than two points during the morning. Packing interests were under selling pressure and yielded a little. United Fruit was strong, but quiet. The market was active.

Among stocks to advance from one to more than two points were Alaska Mesk. Allouez, Calumet & Arizona, Mohawk, Mayflower-Old Colony, Osceola, St. Mary's Land, U. S. Smelting, Wolverine and Eastern Manufacturing. Smaller gains were obtained by Ventura, Parish and Bingham, Davis Daly, Gray & Davis and Eastern Steamship.

Massachusetts Gas receded a point on a odd lot trade and fractional losses were sustained by Libby, Swift & Co., Swift International, Reece Button Hole, Carson Hill, National Leather and American Telephone.

The Boston News Bureau says: "The loans of a large New York and Boston commission house are largely bullish for the past month, which reached their peak on the bottom of the market and are now at a low. Invest level of the year. Customers did not begin liquidating until this week."

BETTER TONE ON CURB.

The Curb market had a slow start, but the tone was better than it was yesterday. Early trading was not only dull, but narrow. Mutual Trust was stronger and the most active issue during the first hour. Highland oils were unchanged or higher, but business in them was not extensive. A number of silvers were unchanged, but a few advanced.

At the end of an hour Mutual Trust was up 25 cents at 80 cents. Eureka, ⅜ at 2⅜; White and White, ⅜ at 2⅝. Among declines were Imperial, 12 cents at 90 cents, and Black Hawk, 3 cents at 81 cents.

The Iron Cap Copper Co. has declared a dividend of 25 cents a share payable March 15 to stock of record March 15. This is the first dividend the company has declared since February, 1919.

BOSTON FINANCIAL NOTES.

Only routine business was transacted at the annual meeting of United Fruit Company yesterday.

Exchange Trust Co. stockholders have voted to increase the capital stock from $400,000 to $600,000 to $1,000,000 and to add $400,000 to its surplus and undivided profits, making the $283,167 undivided profits now standing.

The affiliation of Kidder, Peabody & Co. with a stock exchange house is strengthening.

Manager W. R. Sampson has been added to the directorate of the United Shoe Machinery Corporation.

Charles E. Spencer, Jr., is a new vice-president of the First National Bank, before coming to Boston he had been an officer in banks in New York, Kansas City and Waterbury, while for two years past he has served the Federal Reserve Board in the capacity of an examiner.

The gross earnings of the Bigelow Carpet & Rolling Co. is running at present at a rate approximating $70,000 a month.

New Massachusetts corporations are under Metropolitan Inc., Boston; capital, $100,000; efficiency experts; Stanley-Griffin Company, Lowell, $100,000, mufflers, etc.; Hamilton Tire Corporation, Lynn, $200,000; general financial and brokerage business; The Commonwealth Trust Company, Haverhill, $100,000; Metallic Paint Company, Inc., Boston, automobiles, $175,000; Penn Mfg. Company, Boston, $100,000, textiles.

MONEY IN CIRCULATION INCREASES IN A YEAR

There was an increase last month in the amount of money in circulation in this country. On February 1 it totalled $5,864,171,313 and on March 1 $5,943,765,503. The increase on the first of this month compared with a year ago was $745,713,948. Figuring the population of the country at 106,819,000, the U. S. Treasury Department estimates per capita circulation on March 2 this year at $56.17 against $53.76 on the corresponding date last year.

The general stock of money in the United States on March 1, 1920, was $7,766,311,880 against $7,586,289,522 on March 2, 1919.

Oils Are Also Strong in New York During Active Morning Trading

By W. H. ROSS, Financial Editor

Stocks were strong in New York at noon, many issued then being at their highest. Motors and oils were the strongest groups, the latter showing the most improvement in the second hour. Steels were below their best level. Rails were irregular. Coppers were ready but inconspicuous.

Largest gains were shown by General Motors, Crucible, Mexican Petroleum, Studebaker, Chandler, Pierce Arrow, Texas Co. and Industrial Alcohol. They had advanced from three to more than fourteen points. General Motors gaining most. The market was active, first-hour transactions totalling nearly half a million shares, the largest recorded at 7 per cent.

SPRING RISE HELPS STOCKS.

A preliminary 2 cent advance overnight to $2.82¼ for demand sterling was an unlimiting influence for exchanges. The cable was also the strong opening. The foreign exchange movement supports statements that Europe is to rely on the United States and thus contribute to the rehabilitation of its purchasing power in this country. Also that the export trade end assist generally in keeping manufacturing at home. Motors were especially strong at the outset. Tobacco, steel and oil issues also showed considerable strength. Rails, as usual, the largest gains were made by stocks which have long been the favorite pawns on the speculation board. General Motors kept in the lead and was trailed by Crucible. Rails reached a higher level with St. Paul, Baltimore & Ohio, Reading and Union Pacific among those to move forward. General Motors was the feature of stock loan market after the close yesterday, loaning flat.

RUMOR ABOUT READING ROAD.

The recent advance of Reading is accompanied by Wall street rumors that the management of this road is planning segregation or stock dividend. The latter is to offset concerning Lackawanna. Profit taking late in the first hour caused a slight reaction. Reports of the heavy mining of the red metal was the only reason assigned for the rise of copper shares on Wednesday except the forward tendency of foreign exchange. The near-by rates are now normal the more copper Europeans will buy in this country.

The market continues to be decidedly professional, although more interest on the part of the public is discernible. As usual, outsiders began to take notice as soon as valuations began to rise. The latter have shown a strong trend upward this week. Covering of shorts has been on such a large scale that the technical position of the market is much altered. The professional element is still bearish. It is looking for a reaction.

Japan Using More Steel

Japanese consumption of steel has greatly increased and a shipping authority says that its ship-building requirements alone for this year will approximate 550,000 tons. But Japan is finding it hard to get early delivery guarantees from foreign manufacturers. Before the war Japanese steel shipping tonnage totalled about 438,000 tons. Now it approximates 1,450,000 tons.

Phosphate Rock Shortage

Low-grade rock is in such scant supply that fertilizer manufacturers fear they will not be able to supply more than 75 per cent. of this Spring's requirements. As producers have been forced to use high-grade rock as substitute, pebble of a high quality and usually used only for export business has advanced a dollar a ton within a few weeks.

Locomotives in Demand

Locomotives are in great demand, buying so far this year, totalling about 1,200. Orders now pending call for about 25,000 more. Roads are also heavy buyers of rails and equipment concerns will have in 1920 the business they can handle.

THE OIL LEASING BILL

Final enactment into statute was accomplished when President Wilson signed the Oil Leasing Bill last week.

For years we have tabulated every detail of the progress of this measure, visualizing its extreme importance for increased production and earnings to hundreds of producing oil companies, principally located in Wyoming and California.

Our exclusive knowledge of the details has been incorporated into an analysis of the situation, which will be distributed free upon request.

IT'S WHITE AND 95c

NEW SAFETY PAPER, as an investment, has the goods because IT'S WHITE. Do you know an investment when you see it? Well say you don't. BUT the best investments should always be worth what they cost. Go out and try to borrow on them. That is the proof of the pudding and will show how much they are worth.

The other day, one of the original investors in NEW SAFETY PAPER lost his job and needed some money to get to a distant state where he had obtained another. He called at our office and told his story. We suggested a loan which would be sufficient to put him to work and enable him to repay us in a few weeks. He accepted and was able TO BORROW WHAT THE SHARES COST HIM. Try to do that on a Liberty Bond. Then you appreciate why NEW SAFETY PAPER IS WHITE—As the M. C. from Texas remarked, "We seen our duty and we done it."

For 8 months, NEW SAFETY PAPER has increased in value at the rate of 11% per month. The next 8 months, it will increase faster in value because it is gaining strength, speed and orders, all the time. Get in now and join the Money-list or wait awhile and pay more. You're the doctor! The proposition is WHITE, the men in it are white, and the Paper is White.

Shares, now 95c; soon $1 on the way to $5 and up. Why? Because IT'S WHITE and capable of earning 30% to 60% the 1st year and more thereafter.

The only way to MAKE MONEY is by using your brains. You want to use your brains, overtime, right now.

SPECULATION IN FOREIGN EXCHANGE

A rise in foreign exchange can be taken advantage of without involving the risk and the outlay necessary in connection with buying foreign moneys outright.

An initial payment, which is only a fraction of the cost of buying outright, is sufficient to control large sums of foreign moneys for a period of six months. The original payment constitutes the maximum liability. The profits, on the other hand, should exchange rates rise, are altogether out of proportion to the small original outlay.

Forty dollars controls ten thousand Marks! Should the Marks controlled return to only half of their normal value, the profits would exceed $850.00 on every $40 invested. A quarter million Marks can be controlled for $950. The return will be $2,500.00 for each cent the Mark advances above calling rate.

Quotations furnished on all German City and Industrial Bonds.

Circular, showing that Marks are now quoted far below their actual value, sent on request.

Cotton Market Opening

New York, March 11.—Late months led in an advance of 3 to 32 points at the opening of the cotton market. Profit taking later depressed the list about 10 points on old crop months, but failed to affect the new delivries which remained strong during the first twenty minutes at a net advance of about 25 points. Opening prices were: March, 30.61; May, 36.85; July, 33.90; September, offered 33, October, 31.45; December, 30.60; January, 30.25.

Chicago Grain Market

Chicago, March 11.—Corn opened 9c to 11½c higher. Oats were 4c to 5c higher. Provisions opened 50c to 75c higher. Opening prices were: Corn—May, 1.48 to 1.48¾; July, 1.41¾ to 1.41¾. Oats—May, 83¾ to 83½; July, 76¾ to 76¾. Lard—July, 22.15 to 22.30. Ribs—July, 18.80.

Measures That Would Cure Most of the Troubles and Tendencies Which Distress and Alarm Us Today

(1) To nominate for the Presidency by direct nomination and to elect by popular vote.
(2) To elect the Cabinet officers and make them responsible to Congress.
(3) To deprive the President of the power of patronage; to put public offices as nearly as possible under Civil Service, and have appointments made by a committee of Congress.
(4) To elect Federal Judges, including Supreme Court Justices, by popular vote.
(5) To apply the Initiative, the Referendum and the Recall to national matters.

Bigotry Can Never Win; Anderson Should Be Made Powerless

Whatever value has attached to the previous activities of William H. Anderson, New York State superintendent and directing spirit of the Anti-Saloon League, is canceled, so far as his future usefulness to that organization and the prohibition movement is concerned, by the amazing folly and shocking injustice of his present outburst of bigotry.

The right of American citizens to favor or oppose modifications of any law is fundamental. It is qualified only by the requirement that, while seeking to change a law, they shall not break any law.

In the exercise of this right they are morally entitled to freedom from attack because of their membership in any church, lodge, union, club or political party, unless and until the position which they take as citizens is adopted by such church, lodge, union, club or political organization.

Their views may be challenged and debated at any time by anybody, for this is a right of free speech.

But it is unwise, unfair, unwarranted, dastardly to play on prejudice or bigotry by imputing to these individual opinions an endorsement which they have not received from organizations to which the citizens themselves may belong.

There are Catholics, Protestants, Jews, agnostics and every other shade of religion or irreligion who are in favor of complete prohibition, rigidly enforced.

There are other Catholics, Protestants, Jews, etc., who favor varying degrees of prohibition enforcement.

The Prohibition amendment decrees the death of the American saloon, and there are few mourners.

But it does not and it cannot prevent a varied difference of opinion as to the exact details of the legislation necessary to its enforcement.

Here the discussion should be centred on facts and honest inferences, and conducted with decorum. It should not be beclouded by passion, intolerance, misrepresentation or gratuitous appeals to prejudice.

The movement toward the extinction of the gross evils of the drink traffic in the United States has not been the exclusive possession of any party, sect or class.

It has been a mass movement of the American people.

No church can confiscate the credit for it or successfully use it to discredit another religious organization.

On the contrary, the forward-looking men and women in all the churches and, so far as possible, outside the churches, ought to be encouraged to join minds and strength to bring out of this great social and economic step the utmost public benefit.

To cast an apple of discord among them should be the last thing that a friend of prohibition should wish to see done or wish to do.

This mischievous thing is what William H. Anderson has done. He has done it wantonly.

Long indulgence in autocratic tactics appears to have gone to his head and intoxicated it with a delusion of importance which he does not possess.

We perceive this not unusual phenomenon with regret in view of the contribution which Mr. Anderson has made to the cause in which he has led.

But our regret does not blind us, and it should not blind other supporters of prohibition to the fact that he has destroyed his future usefulness as a leader in that cause.

It is necessary that he be disavowed and deposed if the Anti-Saloon League is to remain an acceptable instrument around which the friends of prohibition may rally in the work yet to be done.

Its further acceptance of his leadership would justly be construed as an endorsement of its great blunder—a blunder more damaging than many crimes.

It would automatically limit his following to bigots.

These there still are, unfortunately. But their number was never fewer. And their power for mischief is happily on the decline.

Give the Spirits a Chance on These Conundrums

There is a shortage of ouija boards. Mr. Rinn's exposure of the fraud that underlies professional spiritualism did not succeed in dampening the ardor of thousands of people who insist upon communicating with the shades of the departed. The owner of a ouija board does not have to pay a medium; he can converse with the spirits himself.

In these troublous times so many questions are pressing for an answer and so little enlightenment is found in our living and material surroundings that it is small wonder to find a growing desire for communication with the spirit world. The fact that spirits have hitherto confined themselves to revealing where Annie mislaid the kerosene can or where Bill hid the mustard plasters or other similarly trivial secrets has not, judging from the demand for ouija boards, discouraged the curious. The human mind loves to rebel against hope.

Why discourage hope? Perhaps some player, juggling his ouija apparatus by the midnight lamp, may receive a mysterious reply from the world of shade to some such queries as these:

What became of President Wilson's fourteen points?
Who is going to be the next President?
Is prohibition here for good?
Why should we let England nominate Hoover for President?
Why do we pay 17 cents a quart for milk?
What is happening to the Constitution of the United States?
What are we going to do about Jugo-Slavia and Czecho-Slavia and Poland and Ireland and Egypt?
How long will jazz music be popular?
When will a dollar buy a good table d'hote dinner?

The living world is unable to solve any of these conundrums. Why not give the spirits a chance?

EVERY ONCE in a while
A MISGUIDED stork
OR A wicked stork
OF THE family of storks
BEST KNOWN to cows
BRINGS SOME poor cow
A CRIPPLED calf.
AND IT just so happens
THAT THIS occurred
ON A neighbor ranch
JUST YESTERDAY.
AND THE man over there
SENT WORD over here
WE MIGHT have the calf.
AND THE way it was.
ITS LEGS weren't straight
AND IT couldn't reach up
TO WHERE calves feed.
AND THE man was busy
AND HE hadn't time
TO FEED it by hand.
FOR THE two or three weeks
THAT WOULD be required
TILL ITS LEGS straightened out.
AND SO we took it.
AND BROUGHT it home.
AND FOUND it a place.
IN THE yard outside.
NEAR THE kitchen door.
AND WARMED some milk.
AND DIPPED in our fingers.
AND RISKED their loss.
IN THE little calf's mouth.
AND IN this way.
WE GAVE it a meal.
AND I think you'll agree.
IT WAS a very crude way.
AND WE left it there.
AND IT went to sleep.
AND LATER on.
THE FOLKS drove to town.
AND LEFT me there.
TO WRITE these things.
AND AN hour had gone.
AND I heard the calf bawl.
IN A weak little way.
AND I went out.
AND IT looked very sad.
AND I was moved.
AND GOT some milk.
AND HEATED it.
AND TOOK a rag
AND TOOK the milk.
AND WENT outside.
AND SOAKED the rag.
AND SLIPPED it gently.
TO THE hungry calf.
AND THE fool little thing.
UNWADDED THE rag.
AND SWALLOWED it.
AND BEGAN to choke.
AND IN the excitement.
I LET my end go.
AND RUSHED around.
AND FOUND some wire.
AND BENT one end.
AND WRESTLED with the calf.
AND SPIKED the rag.
AND DREW it out.
AND THE calf still lives.
BUT IT has a new nurse.
AND IS doing fine.

I THANK you.

Empire Fell When the Holy Tree Crashed Down

FOR centuries superstitious have regarded with reverence a huge, gnarled olive tree in the Garden of Gethsemane at Jerusalem. Beneath it the Saviour is supposed to have walked. Tradition held that the Turkish Empire would fall on the day that the tree fell to earth. Today the Turkish Empire is in ruins. Dispatches from Jerusalem tell us also that the Holy Tree, "El Butin," has been blown down. It is a coincidence which will be regarded by the superstitious as convincing.

Further dispatches, however, explain the death of "El Butin." Just as in biblical times, a plague of locusts has swept the garden where Jesus walked and prayed. Storms of grasshoppers destroyed the trees and plants of the sacred place just as when Moses sent them to plague the wicked Pharaoh. John D. Whiting, American Vice-Consul at Jerusalem, has written an absorbing story of the new plague at Gethsemane. It appears, with photographs, in the magazine section of next Sunday's Boston Sunday Advertiser.

Workmen, returning home in the early morning, saw a flicker of flames across the snow and investigated. They found in a blazing barrel the charred remains of a murdered man.

The police of Rochester, N. Y., where the crime was committed, took up the matter. Their investigations have thrown light on one of the most brutal slayings of recent years. They believe they have found the murderer, and that a woman was at the bottom of the crime.

Read the story in the Boston Sunday Advertiser next Sunday.

Further letters and revelations in the strange case of the disappearance of President Shonts' millions. This week's instalment tells how detectives were employed by the traction magnate and his wife to secure evidence in the famous case. In next Sunday's Boston Sunday Advertiser.

"A Husband's Temptations" is the title of Elinor Glyn's article on the "Secrets of Love" in the magazine section of the Boston Sunday Advertiser next Sunday. A vital article, charmingly illustrated by Howard Chandler Christy.

ARE YOU A THIEF BY DEFAULT?

Are you a passive thief?

Don't get the meaning, you say, but you resent the insinuation.

If you are one of those persons who would keep the change, knowingly and without comment, if you were given a dime or a dollar too much in trade, you come under the head of "passive thief."

To be sure, you would not break into a bank, nor rob a safe, and you could not bring yourself to actually go out and take something which belongs to another, but it is possible to have the thieving spirit, nevertheless.

Perhaps you have seen a fellow traveler drop a five at the ticket office window. The fact that he looked prosperous enough to stand the loss does not relieve you from being a passive thief if you picked it up and kept it.

The pretty little schoolgirl who sees her little friend ahead of her drop a pencil or a handkerchief and who picks up the article, appropriating it, is a thief whether it is found out or not.

It may be only a penny, but it either belongs to you or it does not belong to you, and the principle is the same whether it be two dollars, or a million. Be positively honest.

LAUGH WITH STING NOT WORTH WHILE

By Mrs. Wilson Woodrow

ONE of our biggest national assets is our unfailing sense of humor; possibly the greatest of our national faults is trying to be funny.

The successful American business man almost always has a twinkle in his eye. The American doughboy made a joke of hardship and danger and thereby developed that morale which made him the fighting wonder of the world. The American crowd, no matter how peevish and fretted and exasperated, is always ready to relax at some flash of fun from the inevitable humorist among them.

Saving Grace

Through the saving grace of that sense of humor, I am sure we will never veer far from the line of sanity and order. It is the deadly serious peoples that go in for excesses. Any person or group of persons in this country who begin to imagine that they are the Lord's anointed will soon find themselves called to time by an irreverent populace. With unholy glee, the cartoonists fall upon them and leave not a shred of their pretensions.

Yet that effort to be funny under any and all circumstances which afflicts so many of us is a defect and one which often results in disastrous consequences; for, although humor may be the salt of life, one wants to remember that salt in its chemical constituents is not far removed from some of the most deadly and devastating compounds—a first cousin of them, as it were.

The truth is that very few people can appreciate a joke against themselves. Anything that tends to ridicule their personal habits or appearance or shortcomings, regardless of how funny it is, generally hurts and is more or less resented.

Causes Divorce

And that is just the trouble with the people who try to be funny. Their wit is almost always personal in its character, and employed at the expense usually of some person with whom they are closely associated.

In fact, I would be almost willing to assert that over half the divorces and separations have their inception in this persistent habit of making fun, rubbing the victim upon the raw, as often happens, until at last there is a sharp retort, and then a succession of recriminations and counter-thrusts which quickly degenerates into bickering and quarrels.

Letters to the Editor

For Coolidge

Editor Boston American:

The dispatch in your columns showing that millions of money penrance of President Shonts' millions. This week's instalment tells how detectives were employed by the traction magnate and his wife to secure evidence in the famous case. In next Sunday's Boston Sunday Advertiser.

"A Husband's Temptations" is the title of Elinor Glyn's article on the "Secrets of Love" in the magazine section of the Boston Sunday Advertiser next Sunday. A vital article, charmingly illustrated by Howard Chandler Christy.

showing that millions of money are being used to "capture" and "control" delegates of certain States to the National Republican Convention, in the contest between candidates Wood and Lowden, causes disgust to every decent, fair-minded man or woman in the ranks of the party. Neither man, if nominated, should receive a single vote of self-respecting persons.

The people should call upon Coolidge to run.

Turkish Misrule

Editor Boston American:

In the issue of the Boston American, March 4, 1920, I read with great admiration your able editorial relative to the protection of the Christian people in Turkey against the Turkish misrule and massacre, and the liberation of the Armenian people within the natural and historic boundary of Armenia. I beg to express my gratitude and great appreciation for your kind effort for the liberation of the oppressed people, because it is a question nearest my heart and that of all Armenian people, and I believe that the kind work which you are endeavoring to carry out will be crowned with success.

The decision of the Supreme Court makes it unnecessary for corporations to pay income tax. They need only invest their profits, issue more stock—and you and other little people will pay more to make up the difference. It is easy to raise the income tax rate, you know.

The Evening Post, owned by J. P. Morgan's partner, says the Supreme Court decision will cost the United States Government a half billion. It will cost more than that when corporations get the beautiful new tax-dodging schemes in working order.

"The Americans are docile people," as Lord Northcliffe says. And this, of all countries, is most conservative, not to say reactionary, safest for those whose raw material is the foolish, easily-managed common people.

But a few more such Supreme Court decisions and even the American worm will turn.

You could read on yesterday's front page of the J. P. Morgan paper, "crowds swarm to pay income tax. Laboring men predominate among those waiting to contribute to government."

Pretty picture, isn't it? Laboring men standing in line to help pay expenses of the government. And profiteers that took their hundreds of millions out of the government leaning back and laughing over a Supreme Court decision that enables them to pay as little or as much as they choose, or nothing at all, toward government expense.

The total war debt of the world, reckoned by the allies, is officially announced at two hundred thousand millions, it sounds and is big, but is only about one hundred dollars apiece for every man, woman and child on the earth. Hard work, without any profiteering, could wipe the whole thing out in five years.

But you know the story of the frog in the well. He hops up one foot, slips back nine inches. The school boy's problem is "how long will it take the frog to hop out of a well sixty feet deep?"

The common people toad, with the load of debt on his back, hops up one foot, and the public plunderers push him back eleven inches and a half. How long will it take him to hop out of debt?

The fashion makers of Paris do what they can to help the situation by inventing "a new weekly hat."

Every Monday the lady who knows the importance of "looking her best," can have a new hat on her head. This fills men with horror. But many men, for a hundred thousand years, have been seven different kinds of fools every week. They might allow the women one day weekly.

Another fashion note, to help you keep up to date. The King of England has his trousers pressed with creases on the side. His father, King Edward, did it. The English show intelligence, arranging matters so that their King has solved his heavy problem when he shifts the crease in his trousers from the front to the side. The Germans would have saved money had they done the same thing with their Emperor.

That Emperor's son, by the way, is taking boxing lessons, and is especially interested in the "uppercut." What a wonderful lesson the Frenchman, Carpentier, would give free, if the Crown Prince asked him.

"Now commences war," says the fiery D'Annunzio. Venice will not allow the hungry children of Fiume to enter the city. D'Annunzio says he will take them there in a man-of-war and fire on anybody that objects, and he will probably do it. That is the kind of poet he is. His promises of war is there—unseal war—a poet fighting his own country.

Big news, and surprising, is the announcement that South Africa contemplates setting up a republic and separating from the British empire.

The history of little republics, in Greece and Italy and elsewhere, as Guizot points out, is a history of endless fights and final failure. It takes a really big people to go it alone. Little boats on a rough sea, with big ships bumping around, have a poor chance.

It is only just to England to say that any colony cutting away from her drops a powerful partner, to say nothing of dropping the protection of the biggest fleet on earth and of statesmen who really protect the rights of their subjects. For a single colony, England is a useful big brother.

Honor Missionaries

To give adequate expression of the honor in which Mount Holyoke alumnae are held, whose active service has been given for the extension of Christian civilization throughout the world, an illuminated manuscript book has been prepared and placed in the College Library. In the manuscript are inscribed the names of Mount Holyoke alumnae, from the class of 1838 to the present, who are or have been under full appointment as foreign missionaries.
